Educational Work

Amoy Girls' High School, Kolongsu.—MISS DURYEE writes: All those who are at all acquainted with the situation in China at the present time will know that the question of government registration of all schools is one of the burning and much discussed questions in the missionary world today.

The Nationalist government tells us to register. Are we to obey

* On furlough, 1927-28.

† Retired, Carmel, California.

or not? "Why not?" perhaps is asked. A very earnest Chinese Christian evangelist was asked what he thought about the registration of our schools. He replied: "We must obey God rather than man."

All schools that register do so under certain definite rules. One is that all attendance on church or morning prayers and all Bible study shall be voluntary. But what are we missionaries here for? Shall we say to our pupils, "You must study history but you need not study the Life of Christ if you do not wish to"?

Another regulation, which though not stated in so many words is virtually understood, is the weekly service of commemoration for Dr. Sun Yat Sen. This service has a definite program: the reading of his will, a time of meditation and three bows to his picture. This is said to be only ceremony, but in a land where idols and ancestors are worshiped it seems to us a doubtful and dangerous thing to do.

One of the highest class girls from a non-Christian home was asked her opinion, and it was a decided "No."

This question of registration came to our Amoy Girls' High School as to all other schools, but the Mission came to the conclusion that we should go on as before without registration, and so far we have been allowed to go on our way, for which we are very thankful.

A Students' Union was formed the first term. Grave fears were entertained lest this should prove harmful. Happily these apprehensions have not been realized. It has involved the girls in various outside curriculum activities but these have been confined to the school.

The Sunday Schools and teaching work on Sunday afternoons have been carried on as usual. One group of girls who went to a village two or three miles from Amoy have carried on a successful children's meeting in the chapel there. This village is called "The House of Chan," Chan being a clan surname. Work was begun in this village more than thirty years ago and then given up on account of opposition. Over ten years ago a chapel was opened by a wealthy Chinese Christian and a preacher sent there, but little has been accomplished. Another children's meeting has been started in the home of one of the pupils in Kolongsu. Other groups go to two of the Amoy Churches to help teach the women before service, and the hospital also sees some teaching done. The younger children from the Boys' Primary School come to the High School for an hour of Sunday School on Sunday afternoon, and some of the High School girls go to the Girls' Primary School to teach the younger pupils.

Christmas was observed as before by holding services in five churches and chapels on Amoy Island. The girls raised quite a sum of money to buy presents for the children and poor people, and the pieces of bright colored cloth, stockings, soap, candy and oranges made many hearts happy. The new motor road enabled us to go farther afield this year.

Games have been very popular with girls and a basket-ball match between various classes was held just before the term closed, at the end of the year.

A class of fourteen was graduated in June, and most of them have gone away for further study in Nanking, Shanghai, Foochow and Manila. A few are teaching and one is married.

The coming of Miss Holkeboer to the school in the autumn is a cause for much thankfulness and rejoicing. Miss Holkeboer is just the person for the work and we rejoice that she is here. The second term we had the satisfaction of having two more of our graduates come back to us as teachers. Miss Sio is one of the first class that graduated. She has been at Ginling College and is staying out a year to help us out in teaching. Miss Chng would have graduated at the Nanking Bible Teachers' Training School if the political troubles had not broken up the school. She was there on that terrible day in May and went through difficulties and dangers herself.

More than anything else we covet your prayers. We hope you will remember the school by name and pray that souls may be brought to the feet of Jesus Christ and trained in His Service.

Amoy Girls' Primary School.—MISS BEEKMAN writes: We are glad to be able to report an uninterrupted school year, in spite of political and educational disturbances elsewhere. It is a great comfort to have a staff of loyal, earnest, Christian teachers to work with in these times. Our teaching staff consists of sixteen full-time and one half-time teacher, all our own girls, eight of them graduates of our Girls' Middle School, and two men, graduates of Talmage College, giving part time.

In the spring term there was an enrollment of 318, of whom only 46 were boarders. In June, a class of 55 graduated from the higher primary, and of these 27 continued their studies in our Middle School; 43 children also received diplomas indicating the completion of the work of the lower primary course. In the fall the enrollment was 288, of whom 38 were boarders.

The attendance at and interest in our two Sunday Schools this year have been most gratifying. In the morning Sunday School for the three higher grades, the girls were divided into fourteen classes taught by our teachers, the Principal acting as superintendent. Seven classes were on the honor roll for attendance at Sunday School and church for the term—three classes having a 100 per cent. record. Of the individual girls, 123 had a perfect record for the term, 27 missed one Sunday, and only 15 missed more than one week.

Among the outstanding events of the school year were two "Praise meetings," one at the end of each term, when the singing did great credit not only to the girls but to the two teachers who gave so cheerfully of their time and efforts in drilling them.

At Christmas time the children again helped poor people here on Kolongsu. They distributed gifts to 190 poor women and children who came to the school December 24th for a Christmas meeting. The children and teachers gave $89 and the children of the foreign Sunday School gave $46.18 and toys; so we were able to give each woman cloth for a garment, soap and twenty cents, and each child cloth, soap, candy, cakes and a toy. They were certainly grateful for what was done for them and some were pitifully needy.

The school also contributed $16 for work among Chinese lepers in Formosa, and $158 towards the National Home Missionary work in Hunan.

The white ants were "so clever at eating" that the roof of the second dormitory became unsafe and a new roof had to be put on at the end of the summer. We are most grateful to the Woman's Board for the ex-appropriation gift of $500 in gold which enabled us to make these repairs and still leave a small balance towards the repairs to the kitchen and dining-room roofs.

Charlotte Duryee Bible School.—Miss K. M. TALMAGE writes: Our school has had a very happy year, though the enrollment has been smaller than last year. This, I think, is partly due to the unsettled state of the country. The roads in many directions have been unsafe for traveling on account of soldiers and bandits.

Many of our women can stay only a term or two in the school, and our one great aim is that every pupil, old or young, may learn the way of salvation through Jesus Christ. If we fail in this, we feel that our work is a failure. Idolatry and superstition have very strong hold on heathen women especially. They are very much afraid that giving up the worship of their idols will bring calamity.

During the summer holidays several of the women went to different villages to do Christian work. Four went back to the robber village where they had worked during the winter holidays. Their work was much appreciated and this village, once a curse to the district and to villages across the bay, now has many who are learning to read the Word of God and to sing His praises. When the women returned to continue their studies, they gave a very interesting report of their work and of the readiness of the people to receive their message. They told of a noted robber, also an opium smoker, who on one of his raids was so badly wounded that he sold his daughter to pay for medical treatment. Now the man is changed and has given up his evil ways. Another man, an inveterate gambler, has now learned to read the New Testament and takes every opportunity to tell others of his new-found faith.

During the summer holidays a Women's Conference was held in our school building. About thirty Bible women and a number of school teachers attended. Most of the Bible women were once our pupils. It was an inspiration to meet so many women all engaged in preaching the Gospel to their heathen sisters and teaching them to read.

We have the same teaching staff as last year, and they are all doing faithful work. The pupils have as a whole made good progress. Some seem to have grown in grace and we have much hope that they will be shining lights in their homes. We had a few this term who knew nothing of Christ. They seemed at first very careless and indifferent. The teacher thought them rather hopeless. They seemed to think that prayer was a joke, and made little progress. But teaching, line upon line and precept upon precept, and prayer have made a great change in them, and now we hope their stay in the school has not been in vain.

Our school expenses have been more this year than ever. Food and wages are increasing in cost. But as there was a smaller enrollment we could manage to make our budget almost meet the demands. Many of the women cannot pay the full boarding fees.

We wish to thank all the friends who have made our work possible by their gifts and prayers. And will you not continue in prayer that God in His love and mercy will reveal His Son in the hearts of our pupils, that their eyes may be opened to see His beauty and that they may be true witnesses of His love and power to their relatives and friends.

Pity-Little-Children-Home.—Miss M. E. TALMAGE reports: The year 1927 closes the 40th year of the Children's Home. In August of 1887 three ladies of the English Presbyterian Mission and three ladies of our Mission met at Sa-loh for the purpose of discussing the opening of a Children's Home, because many forsaken little girls were often brought to the notice of these ladies, each of whom was bearing the burden of some of these children.

Not a few Missionaries and also some friends of the merchant community donated over six hundred dollars to the cause, and in September, 1887, in a rented house, the "Home" was opened. During these forty years the Institution has cared for 190 children.

In May of 1927 the 190th was received, a little girl eleven years of age. She came from Na-au, a village on Amoy Island. Her father had died, and her stepmother, very, very poor and very, very deaf, said she had no means of supporting the child and asked the "Home" to receive her.

Four of our girls, Veiled Peace, Grandmother's Pet, Peaceful Heart and Sarah, are studying in our High School for girls. Grandmother's Pet united with the Church at the end of the year.

Two of our maimed girls, Careful and Love, entered the Woman's School for more Bible study and love to help a little in the teaching there. Careful, who seemed very deficient and seldom smiled, has improved wonderfully and often smiles.

Precious Pearl received her diploma from the N. A. C. (Nurses' Association of China) and has been employed as graduate nurse in Hope-Wilhelmina Hospital.

"Rare" was married in September to a teacher in a school in the Tong-an district.

The little blind girl, Precious Jade, is still in the Foochow Blind School. The "Home" pays $50 a year to the Blind School for her. The Missionary in charge of the Blind School wrote on Dec. 15th, as follows:

She is a dear little girl, one of the most attractive in the school; quiet at her books, and of a very happy disposition. She was very ill last term with typhoid—eleven of the girls had it. When she came back to the school in July she was a little skeleton but is quite herself this term.

The many children of past years, who left the "Home" for homes of their own, frequently make visits to the Children's Home, bringing their wee babies or older children with them. These children are always great pets with the "Home" children. The following are extracts of a letter from one of these mothers, written to two members of the Children's Home Committee. She was left a widow with two dear little boys. She writes:

Two days after my visit to you my little son, First-Happiness, was taken very ill, and the following week his smaller brother also was taken ill, with measles. Now, three weeks later, they are quite well again. Through all this illness I knew and felt that God was caring for us. I called the Doctor to come to see the boys. He said I must take great care, that they were very ill. It was very manifest that I was receiving God's loving care. I also have received great help from you. Again and again I was reminded how the children's father left these two lambs to me, how when he was very ill my heart was deeply sad and miserable, but all the time there was a great Heavenly Father in whom I could trust, and also I received from you great assistance. If it were not for this help from the Children's Home, I do not know how I could have borne the expenses of this illness. The salary I receive from the school where I am teaching is ten dollars a month, just only sufficient for food for us three. Where could I find help and money for need in illness? Therefore, I was more than ever thankful to God, and also deeply thankful to you. When the holidays come I will take these two boys to you to say "thank you." Please always pray for helpless me, and pray for these two little boys. I am hoping that when they grow up they will be used of the Lord to do His work.

After her husband died of "hasty consumption" (he was a school teacher) the Children's Home stepped in and helped to partly support the boys, with a gift of six dollars each month. They are well-behaved, attractive little fellows.

Some of the "Jubilee" money given to us by the Woman's Board was used in 1926 for needed repairs, but this last year more extensive repairs were undertaken. White ants and dry rot made the roof leak in many places; so a whole new roof was put on the building. The rooms inside were painted, electric light was installed, other repairs were made, and some needed furniture was bought. With very grateful hearts we have very carefully used the "Jubilee" money, and the "Home" is greatly improved.

The Children's Home has not gone through the year without its share of difficulties. The unsatisfactory conditions existing between the matron and children caused various troubles, and it was felt very advisable to make a change of matron. To our great relief the matron resigned, and we gladly accepted her resignation, though it was felt she wished to remain and hoped (after the Chinese fashion) that she would be urged to stay. In her place we have the widow of a former preacher, a former pupil of our Girls' School. We feel that she is perfectly honest, and she is one who loves cleanliness and is a decided Christian. Her little daughter comes to the Home with her.

In closing we wish to thank the donors of some very acceptable gifts to the Home. The box arrived just before Christmas and made many hearts happy.

We also send our grateful thanks to those who give the yearly expenses which make the running of the Home possible. And with our thanks our request is: "Please do not forget to pray for these children."

Most of all our hearts are full of gratitude to our Heavenly Father for His care and loving kindness throughout the year and all the years past, Who is ever ready to help us in every time of need. And "our hearts desire, and prayer to God for these children, is that they might be saved."

Evangelistic Work

MISS GREEN reports: The evangelistic work among the women of the Amoy station has been carried on largely by the twelve Bible women constantly at work here. Four of these faithful witnesses devote their efforts to work in connection with three of the churches in the thickly populated city of Amoy. One, the blind Bible woman, Phoa-kaw, does faithful service, teaching the women who come as patients to the Hope and Wilhelmina Hospital on Kolongsu. The other seven are scattered about the district, being attached to the various churches and chapels.

That the services of these women is greatly appreciated by the church is shown by the fact that half of them are paid for entirely by the Chinese Christians. Another two also receive partial support from the church—leaving only four dependent entirely upon the Mission for salaries.

Most of the work of a Bible woman is of a personal nature. She visits in the homes of both the church families and other families where the Gospel is not yet received. When a "sister" has absented herself from the services, the faithful Bible woman seeks her out to learn the reason. In this way she becomes a comforter of the sick and an exhorter of the backslider.

When there is to be special evangelistic work arranged, it is the Bible woman who occupies the position of Pastor's assistant among the women, and she is often called upon to conduct services for the women or even to address mixed audiences. The Missionary, also, finds loyal co-workers in the Bible women, all of whom have received their training in the Woman's Schools.

Since her return, Miss Green has, with the various Bible women, visited innumerable churches and a number of friendly non-Christian families. Everywhere a cordial welcome has awaited the foreign missionary, and the words of counsel and cheer have been gladly received. This happy relationship between Christian and non-Christian is a great contrast to that which exists in so many places, at present, in the Celestial Kingdom. We are very thankful to our Lord for the unhampered opportunity which is still ours for service in His Name.

Besides the house-to-house visitation work, there have been started three Bible study groups in the city of Amoy. Two of these Bible classes are in connection with two of the churches and are for older women. The third is for young women who have had more education. This latter Bible class meets in a home half way between the First and Second Churches of Amoy and has a membership drawn from both churches.

For every church woman and girl of Amoy city we crave the blessings which come from fellowship with the Master. Therefore, we are trying to induce each and every woman church member to establish the habit of observing the Morning Watch. We have just started work towards this ideal, but already we have met with an encouraging response. Pray for these Bible women, often lonely workers, that they may glorify their office, and may be given the help of the Spirit in their labor of carrying the Gospel message to their fellow country-women. Pray for us missionaries that we may be given understanding hearts, so that the message given may be just suited to the needs of the heart-hungry one who hears. Pray for the Christians that they may be true to the Master in all things, so that His Kingdom may speedily come in this place.

TONG-AN

Educational Work

Tong-an Girls' School.—MISS BROEKEMA writes: The year 1927 brought experiences which many of us will not soon forget. It was with uncertainty that we opened the Girls' School the first term. We were hearing so much of registration, and of closing of schools, that we wondered if we should be able to continue till the end of the term. In March, when the missionaries were called to Amoy, the work being left in the hands of the Chinese teachers, many of the pupils became alarmed and thought that because we left the school would be closed. False rumors were spread about, and these people up-country were inclined to believe some of them. But one day at the end of April we were permitted to return. Although it was just for a day, still in that time we were convinced that the teachers and pupils wanted us back. I shall never forget the love and gratitude they expressed and the joy in their faces in seeing us return. The short visit not only helped us but it greatly encouraged them to carry on to the end of the term.

In June we graduated eight girls, three of whom went on to High School, while the others are at home helping in the family. There is not time to tell of the unhappy futures most of these girls face, but I just want to make mention of one of the girls who seems to be finding joy in the Christian life. She lives in this district and always attends church services and the Women's Prayer-meeting. This is not easy for her, as her family are not regular attendants and she receives no encouragement from them. It does make our hearts rejoice to know she is trying to follow the Saviour whom she learned to know in the school.

The last term the enrollment was smaller. This was due somewhat to unsettled conditions and reports being spread that we could not open. There are more heathen schools than formerly, and some of our pupils, we are sorry to say, have gone there. Then, too, we were not able to visit through the districts to find new pupils. Many of the people here must still be taught the value of educating their girls.

This Christmas, instead of having a program at the school, the girls helped in giving a program at the church and one of the chapels. Then we had a happy time together about the Christmas tree the following day, when songs were sung and gifts distributed.

Through these uncertain times we have been led to feel the importance of prayer. The teachers' and pupils' prayer meetings have shown that we all need "strength from above" in order to let our lights shine in a time like this when Christians are being criticized more than ever.

Evangelistic Work

Children's Meetings.—MISS BROEKEMA reports: We have had two children's meetings in Tong-an this past year. One is held in the church during the morning service, for children under ten years, and the other is held on Wednesday afternoon in a village about a mile away. What a vast difference between these meetings!

The one in the church is composed mostly of boys and girls from our schools. These children are being taught in school that they must be orderly in God's House; so keeping order is not as difficult as with those who know not what it means to be quiet. The meeting is opened by a prayer, which is sung, asking the Father to prepare our hearts for the service. After a year of trying to impress upon their minds the importance of reverence, our hearts are happy when we see their little hands folded, heads bowed, eyes closed as we offer our prayer. Often the older sister folds the hands of the little brother or sister and puts her hands over his eyes. The room rings with the joyful sound of their voices as they sing "Jesus Loves Even Me." They enjoy clapping their hands, singing "I am so glad that Jesus loves me," while their faces beam with smiles. This past term they have learned the Twenty-third Psalm just by repeating it each week as part of our worship program. A chart was hung on the wall which recorded the names, and red stars were given for memorizing the Golden Texts. Very many were faithful in remembering from week to week. At the end of the term some could even repeat all the twelve Golden Texts. We feel this is an important work to train these little ones so that they will understand more fully what it means to be a child of God. Kind friends have made it possible for us to have an organ and next term we expect a big improvement.

Now, as to the other meeting. The contrast will help you realize what a help our schools are. The first time we gathered these children together we seemed to be at a loss what to say first. We started by singing "Jesus Loves Me." After a few times we tried to get them to sing, but some just stared at us—probably the first time they had seen a foreigner—others looked as though we were asking the impossible; a few responded and after a couple of weeks more were joining in. We tried to teach them to pray, but they do not know who God is and that He loves them. Then we told the story and after a few more attempts at singing we gave out the cards. Each week, as we teach them to sing and pray and tell them of the love of Jesus, we hope and pray that thus they will gradually learn about the Heavenly Father. If sometimes we grow discouraged and wonder if they will ever understand and even learn to sing, our hearts are always made happy when we see the smiles that greet us each week. And we realize that all that is required of us is to sow the seed and God will give the increase. We have an average of sixty-five to seventy children each week including a few women. The meeting is held outside, which detracts in trying to keep order. Often a mother comes and calls a child, or the baby tied on the sister's back cries and will not be content unless the sister walks about. As we look over these little ones our hearts yearn within us to think of the glorious childhood they are missing. We pray that as the seed is sown their hearts may be opened to receive it; and these "little lambs of the fold" may soon come to know of the Good Shepherd who said, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me."

The Woman's School.—MISS ZWEMER writes: About five miles from Tong-an is a village called Koa-jim, also called the Robbers' or Pirates' village. Work there seemed so much less hopeful than at other places that not much was done for this place, but one of the pirates heard the Gospel in Amoy, was convicted of sin and turned to God. He and others then asked Christians to help win his village for Christ. The First Church in Amoy took an interest in this place and sent workers there. During school vacations several women from the Amoy Women's School went there to teach with good results. Many women and some men were taught the romanized script and to repeat hymns and texts. From this village ten women came to our class last spring. In September the ex-pirate came to say that about twenty women from Koa-jim would like to enter our school but all were too poor to pay and some members of the Amoy First Church would pay part of their fees. One day he came with twenty-six women and nearly every one of them brought a little child. I had found no opportunity to go to Koa-jim so could not choose the women suitable for our school, and this good brother had more zeal than wisdom. Several of the women were opium addicts. Some were more in need of a hospital than a school. Three were very old and feeble, but I took them all in on trial. Two of the opium addicts were willing to give it up and, with medicine from our hospital, were cured. They are now, I hope, truly trusting the Holy Spirit to help them resist this great temptation. The others, when they discovered that it was impossible to get or use opium in school, left after a few days. At first the old women spent most of the day in sleep, but regular food and kind treatment did much for them, and when school closed they left with happier hearts, trusting in a Heavenly Father who loves them. They are woefully poor, too old to work, and with no one to care for them.

Most of the women who came from Koa-jim were really anxious to learn. They made great progress in their studies and many of them profess to have accepted Christ as personal Saviour and say they are determined to serve Him all their lives.

In all, our school had an enrollment of forty-two the fall term and twenty-four the spring term. Some came both terms; so the total number who were in school this year is fifty-five.

The last day of March we all left Tong-an by order of the Minister at Peking and our schools had to be left to our Chinese teachers. We were able to return for two days in April and the loving welcome we received from pupils and Christian friends convinced us that missionaries are still wanted as well as needed in China. Toward the end of June all seemed so peaceful in Tong-an that some of us returned to close our schools, and we received only kind treatment from heathen as well as Christians.

We are most thankful that in September we could all return to our stations and that nothing has come of the threats to close Mission Schools.

Evangelistic Work

MISS ZWEMER continues: Every year the first week of the Chinese New Year is given to special evangelistic efforts. Meetings are held in the churches, chapels and hospital, and every afternoon several Christian women go two by two or in larger groups to visit homes and villages. The disturbed state of the country prevented our visiting the Hong-san and An-khoe districts.

Our Sunday School and the Women's Weekly Prayer Meeting we trust are helping the women and girls to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

When the Woman's School attended the weekly prayer meeting at the close of school, all who had learned to read during the term read some verses of Scripture or a hymn. The others all led in prayer. Our women of the church were much impressed that so many had in one term learned to read so fluently.

Will all who read this report join us in prayer, that all who hear the Gospel may quickly understand and believe and then be used of God to tell the good news to others.

This year our district has only six Bible women and we need many more to reach the hundreds of still unreached villages.

See Matt. 9:37, 38.

CHIANG-CHIU

Educational Work

Girls' Lower and Higher Primary School.—MISS MORRISON writes: In reviewing the work of the school for the year just closing, we are most grateful for the many mercies and blessings God has given us these past months. Although at the beginning of the year it seemed not unlikely that the church schools might be closed by the new Board of Education, which came into power when the Southern government became the ruling party here, yet the work has been carried on both terms with no interruptions beyond the many compulsory holidays that were ordered by the local Board of Education and the time lost when pupils and teachers were required to attend meetings to receive instruction on various matters. Fortunately it was usually possible to send one or two teachers and a few pupils to represent the school at such meetings.

At the end of March, the American Consul at Amoy urged all foreigners living away from the port to come to Amoy, owing to the unsettled conditions existing in many places, and it was nearly the end of September when the missionaries were able to return. For three months of the spring, therefore, and also several weeks in the autumn term, the responsibility and management of the school was borne entirely by the Chinese principal, a young woman who had grown up in the school, and who has given faithful and efficient service, first as teacher and later as principal of the school. She proved herself entirely worthy of the trust placed in her, and the work went on in the usual manner, each teacher doing her regular work conscientiously, and harmony and good-fellowship prevailing. The husband of the principal gives half his time as teacher in the Talmage High School, and half as teacher in our Girls' School, and he has been of much assistance many times this year, when various matters in connection with the school and Board of Education had to be discussed.

The pupils enrolled for the year totaled one hundred and fifty and, although in the autumn term there was a decrease of fifteen pupils, yet this was not due to the anti-Christian agitation, but rather to the fact that no pupils came from the lower schools of the other stations in this district.

The class graduated last June was the smallest in numbers for some years. Several girls had dropped out owing to various causes. One, who lived four days' journey inland from Chiang-chiu, did not return to school the last term, the roads being so infested by bandits that traveling was very unsafe. Her brother, who was a pupil in the Boys' School, when returning after Chinese New Year, was seized by bandits and killed. A few months later the father of these pupils was also seized by bandits, dragged a mile away from his home and beaten to death. He was one of the first Christians in his home place. Another member of the graduating class was taken ill and died ten days before the graduating day. She was from a non-Christian family but had become a Christian while in school and had been received into the Church. When dying she had much peace and joy and was happy to go to be with her Saviour. After her death her father said, "Surely the religion she believed must be the true one, for she was so happy and not afraid to die." Her mother now is attending church.

The greatly increased cost of living has made it necessary to increase the school fees, but even so it has been impossible to keep expenses within the amount available. In order to economize where it could possibly be done, one less teacher has been employed the second term, two of the lower classes being so arranged that one teacher was able to manage both, and the missionary in charge has also taken on more classes.

Miss Vander Linden has taught a class in Bible study, and Mrs. Day and Mrs. Veenschoten have given musical instruction, all of which help has been greatly appreciated.

Near the end of the second term, Dr. Davis of the Pocket Testament League, Shanghai, spent some time at Amoy and came to Chiang-chiu for a few days, and in addition to the several general meetings at which he spoke to large audiences, he also held a special meeting for the pupils of the church schools, at which several hundred pupils were present, and all listened intently to the stirring address. Many of those present expressed a desire to join the Pocket Testament League, among them thirty or more pupils of our school, and each has received a Testament and pledged herself to read at least one chapter a day. Another result of Mr. Davis' work among us has been the formation of prayer circles in the school and a deepened interest in prayer, and when the girls went home for the holidays they promised to continue to pray, each in her home, and we trust they will form other prayer circles in their homes and neighborhoods.

The school at Christmas time gave an entertainment of Christmas songs and two little plays illustrating the true spirit of Christmas. The children of the Kindergarten class took part by singing some motion songs and the audience enjoyed it all. In connection with Christmas, pupils and teachers gave an offering of $25 Mex. to be used in some way to help others to hear of the love of God and Jesus Christ. The Sewing Guild Box arrived two days before Christmas; so we could distribute the very nice presents to the pupils, and all were delighted with the gifts they received.

During the months of this year, passing through unusual and trying experiences, we have come to feel as never before our utter dependence upon God, and the presence of our Lord with us, and to realize the power of prayer. With deepened faith and love we stand at the threshold of the new year, knowing that grace and strength will be given for each day's need.

"Ye also helping together by prayer for us."

The Woman's School.—MISS VANDER LINDEN writes: There is little of special interest to report regarding the Woman's School. Teacher Bui has given most of her time to regular Bible women's work, but she continues to live in the school building and does the teaching when Mrs. Shih goes out for the children's meeting or to do visitation work. Mrs. Lun also has a room in the school and the three women work together in an admirable spirit of Christian love and fellowship. There were twelve students this year, one of them the wife of a young preacher just beginning work at Khaw-aw and one the daughter-in-law of the Sin-tng preacher. Because of the unsettled conditions only one of the three women we had expected from Tiu-ka was able to come, and on account of illness she had to return home. She has since died. Seven women were in school this fall and winter and three of these came with hearts saddened by the death of children. One had just lost her only child, a son, in his second year at Talmage College. She knew very little about Christianity but now is determined to become a Christian and she hopes she may be ready for baptism in the coming year.

We are eager to get more students but as long as the conditions in the country remain so unsettled and itinerary trips are impossible for us and the roads unsafe, it is unlikely that women will come from inland places. The boarding department is entirely self-supporting, and, aside from the teacher's salary, there is very little expense. Some of the women come only during the daytime, but to have them live in the school is far more satisfactory.

Evangelistic Work

MISS VANDER LINDEN writes: All plans for itinerary trips had to be abandoned on account of the unsettled conditions; consequently there is very little to report regarding the inland stations. Last spring, when the troubles in Foochow, Nanking and elsewhere took on a serious aspect and we were called to Amoy, all our activities had to stop until we could return to Chiang-chiu in September, though the Bible women remained at their posts and continued the city work.

Motor-bus service, although most unreliable this year with the frequent transportation of troops, has yet made it possible to make several trips to Chioh-bay, Hai-teng and Thian-po, sometimes for a Sunday and sometimes during the week for visitation work. Sin-tng, the out-station of the Chiang-chiu church, is within walking distance and we have also been able to go there at different times.

Frequent reports of the activities of robbers and bandits in the inland places have caused us great anxiety for the people connected with the churches in the outlying regions. At Thian-po and Leng-soa children were kidnapped and men, too, were seized and held for ransom. The children were all redeemed, but in one family a man and his grown-up son were killed. Soa-sia (Mountain City) was raided by a band of forty bandits, last August, who wrought havoc in many homes and business places. The family and relatives of Mr. Chan, the Tiu-ka preacher whose death we mentioned in last year's report, were among those who suffered most. Their shop was looted, a clerk killed, the preacher's brother seized, and his daughter, too, was tied and about to be led away, but one of the clerks secured her release, making her captors believe that she did not belong to the place. Boxes containing her trousseau were all stolen or destroyed. She had to escape to the hills for safety and for more than two weeks wandered with other fugitives from place to place, never daring to spend a night in a house for fear of being captured again. After a time she disguised herself and followed an old woman carrying a load of wood until she got back to her mother and to her uncle, who had been released upon payment of a large sum of money. The young man she is to marry had to run away to save his life and for the present dares not return. We hear many stories of this sort and it is no wonder that the people are worried and distracted, for everywhere families are left destitute and those who have so far escaped know that their turn may come any time.

The evangelistic work in the city has gone on steadily. Few days passed with no calls made. Mrs. Lun and Teacher Bui, the older Bible woman and the young woman, engaged for the Woman's School, who also does some visitation work, are earnest, faithful, consecrated women. In the beginning of the year conditions were so unsettled that we could not get out much beyond the city limits, but in spite of all that has been written and said about the anti-foreign, antiinland places. The boarding department is entirely self-supporting, and, aside from the teacher's salary, there is very little expense. Some of the women come only during the daytime, but to have them live in the school is far more satisfactory.

In the beginning of the year conditions were so unsettled that we could not get out much beyond the city limits, but in spite of all that has been written and said about the anti-foreign, anti-

Christian feeling, we have had splendid opportunities for evangelistic work this fall and winter. In fact opportunities have never been better, and we have found the people just as kind and hospitable as they have always been and very ready to listen to the "old, old story of Jesus and His love" which, alas, is still new to very many.

The Sunday morning children's service has kept up, except for a short time in the summer. On account of the illness of the pastor's wife the meetings have been held in the Kindergarten since September. The Tuesday children's meeting for non-Christian children has reached a great many who never come to church and it is most gratifying to see how interested some of them are and how much they have learned. We had to leave the medicine shop where we started this work, early in the year, and until recently we met in the home of a woman who had been coming to church a few times. By moving we lost several of the older girls, who are not allowed to walk through the streets. The new place was much larger and better, but alas, one day we found the whole room filled with large bundles of dried tobacco leaves and the large Sunday School lesson pictures we had tacked on the walls to beautify the place were out of sight. Our hostess was most apologetic and invited us to another room, assuring us that the tobacco was only stored until it was sold, but other shipments would be coming in and she feared we might be inconvenienced often. We were having a good attendance and the children were so interested we could not think of giving it up, though at times there was very little light and space left for us. A few times we had to withdraw to the backyard, where we imposed on two big pigs and several ducks and chickens! However they did not object to the invasion of human beings, and Chinese children, being accustomed to their company, did not mind in the least, and neither did we after once we got our benches placed, the pictures hung and the children heartily singing "Jesus Loves Me." We are thankful that we have now found a much better place near by, owned by a Christian who is very happy to be of some help in this work. During the holidays we had a special Christmas treat for the children at the Woman's School. From the Guild Box we had a few dolls and wristlets for the girls and balls and marbles for the boys, and oh, how happy they were! A pocket full of candies and cookies added to their delight. We hope they will never forget their first Christmas party and that the story of the Babe in the manger may come to mean more and more to them as they continue coming to the weekly meetings.

Immediately following the close of Synod we were privileged to have the Rev. G. T. B. Davis of the Pocket Testament League here to speak to the Christians. He spoke most earnestly and effectively on the need of prayer, Bible study and personal work, urging the Christians to start prayer circles to pray for themselves, for the church and for the unsaved, then, after receiving the blessing of the Holy Spirit, to go out to witness for Christ, carrying the Gospel message to every man, woman, and child in the city. Many were stirred, prayer groups were started, and once a month a union prayer meeting of the four city churches combines all the prayer circles, when reports can be made and all can unite in prayer for a revival.

The year began with many discouraging notes, and when we had to be away from our station for nearly six months at a stretch it seemed a great trial, for we can never get away from the needs all about us and inaction is harder than carrying on. But in gratitude to God and with unspeakable joy we close the year praising Him for the blessings of the past few months. The ten-hour prayer meeting on Armistice Day—the day set apart for fasting and prayer for China—was a most strengthening, soul-refreshing time for all who took part, and some of the church leaders have expressed the hope that the city churches may ere long spend another day in this way. Many small groups are praying for revival blessings. We have had evidences that the Holy Spirit is working in the hearts of His children and we go forward earnestly longing for and expecting to see greater things in the coming months.

LENG-NA

Educational Work

The Girls' School.—MRS. POPPEN writes: This has been a year of ups and downs. It began with, "Down with the foreigners," "Down with imperialism"; it continued with, "Down with Christianity" and "Down with Christian schools, vehicles of imperialism." With such a beginning one would not naturally be optimistic. The down movement continued with a large public meeting arranged by progressive nationalists in Leng-na, where some more specific downs were mentioned. "Down with footbinding." "Down with the ancient custom of holding girls as slaves." "Down!" cried the mob. The persistence with which the Chinese continued their "Tah To" or downs, finally resulted in the evacuation of the foreigner and our enforced march—again downwards—to Amoy.

But amidst all the noise and confusion the Girls' School carried on. Sometimes it was with bated breath as the representatives of the Nationalistic Party would inspect, give orders, frown upon our religious courses and send in long letters with their demands. The antagonism grew to such an extent that the girls who were attending a public meeting were met with jeers and hoots.

It was with great misgivings that we returned this fall. To our surprise and joy we found the school opened with as large an enrollment as in the previous term. The reaction had come. Such an enrollment was proof that no matter what opposition there might be, the Girls' School stood as a permanent organization and had the confidence of the people no matter what re-actionists might be in power.

The ex-bandit military governor in charge of Leng-na has a hobby, which is road building. The city looks as Yokohama did after the earthquake. Scores have lost their homes. Our girls' school was not an exception. The entire rear end of the spacious ancestral hall where we have our school has been torn down. Rebuilding is slow. Fortunately the building is large, but with thieves and makeshift quarters the Chinese virtue of patience has had to undergo real testing.

The school needs new quarters, but the uncertainty in regard to religious education has delayed the building program. The school needs higher grade teachers. For the coming year we have borrowed one of the boys' school teachers. After another year and a half we hope to welcome two of our own graduates, who by that time will have finished their course in the Amoy Girls' High School.

Leng-na Woman's Work.—It is a joy to see the eagerness and regularity with which the older women have been attending the Sunday services. The women's side of the church is usually filled. The new Bible woman, It Sim, has been very active in making friends with these women and their families and is well known in many places in the city. Besides working regularly at the hospital clinics, she holds meetings for women at the Girls' School each week, and once a week she has been having meetings at the reading-room, which is located in the heart of Leng-na's business district. She has been very adept in learning the Leng-na dialect and has a direct and forceful way of presenting Gospel truths.

A very impressive communion service was held recently, when an old, old lady of seventy-five made confession of her faith. "She knows but little of the Bible," reported the Bible woman, "but, oh, how I wish I were as certain of my Saviour's love as she is!" Her son, a former Buddhist priest, has also been coming regularly and is earnestly seeking to learn the great Bible truths.

Woman's School, Leng-na.—MRS. HOLLEMAN writes: During the last term of the past year 18 women paid their school fees; so I think we are safe in saying that the enrollment was 18, for the Chinese do not believe in paying their money unless they are sure they belong.

On account of mothers-in-law and husbands constantly calling the women home for one thing or another, the average daily attendance was only about 12. Three women have been coming since the opening of the school three years ago and are able to read fluently and to write very well. At present they are reading with much pleasure and benefit "Pilgrim's Progress."

The big class of beginners, after a period of storm and stress, are beginning to read. Next term we hope to read a little book resembling a catechism, as well as a book of New Testament stories.

The new pupils all come from non-Christian homes. Some attend church services on Sundays, and we hope if they all stay on at school that all will attend next term.

The three pupils who have been attending since the opening of the school are, I think, believers. One woman told me there was much of the Gospel she did not understand, but what she did understand she believed to be the truth.

One woman will be leaving next term to join her husband, who went to the Straits Settlements four years ago. A short time back she received a letter from him asking permission to marry a second wife there. For fear he may marry in spite of what she says, she thinks it safer to go south herself. She expressed disappointment in having to leave school, but she said she would take her Bible, song-book and Pilgrim's Progress with her, since she expected much leisure in that strange country among strangers. She is a bright little woman and I hope all goes well with her.

So they come and go, and our hope and prayer is that the hearts of many may be touched during their short stay with us.

Village Touring.—MISS JULIA C. SCUDDER reports: Our touring was less this year than usual, as I was obliged to extend my vacation on the Hills by advice of the doctor. But we pitched our tent in seven centers and visited twenty places branching out from them and spent 166 days touring.

We were in the Tindivanam field at Narasinganur just before the Jubilee of that village was commemorated, and the women were especially eager to learn some lyrics to be sung at the Jubilee service; so they learned and sang them very creditably.

At another center we found the Christians were practising a number of heathen rites, but we hope and pray they have been given up ere this. We taught, as usual, verses, prayer and sewing, teaching three dumb girls to sew. The sewing class is usually held in the evening, and all sit on the ground out-of-doors around a bright petrol lamp.

The picture rolls are useful throughout the whole tour, as not only women but most of the men are unable to read, so they have to be taught through eye-gate. In some villages the women are very responsive, in others we even have difficulty to gather them for a short talk. Thus, as is common in this world, we are received sometimes with indifference and at other times heartily. But however received, we speak the message with the prayer that the Spirit will fructify and reap a good harvest by God's grace. To teach responsible living and habits of cleanliness and of sanitation is most difficult.

We are much indebted to an unknown generous friend for supplying us with a bolt of red and blue check material for use in the villages. We thus offer our thanks, hoping it will come to the donor's notice.

MADANAPALLE

Medical Work

Mary Lott Lyles Hospital.—DR. HART reports: Last year we were under-staffed in the nursing department because the standard of admission had been raised and there were no applicants from the schools in 1926 and we could not afford to keep our graduate nurses whose salary is double their scholarship allowance. However, we were cheered when four new students came in June of 1927.

In the latter part of last year we were strengthened by the return of Miss J. V. TeWinkel, our Senior Superintendent, and by the entering into our medical work of Dr. Margaret Gibbons, after passing her first examination in Telugu. We hope to have in her a real Telugu doctor, one who can speak understandingly with her patients on all matters.

With the settling of Mrs. Dr. Korteling in Punganur in June that roadside and dispensary work was dropped and Wednesdays were spent here. For a time Wednesday evening was spent in a visit to Kothapalle to prevent the spread of tuberculosis in that spot. On the removal by death of the dangerous focus there, the visits ceased.

Two interesting camps were made—first in Chinnaguntakal, second in Nimallapalle. Malaria was the outstanding disease encountered, being nearly double that in 1925 and four times that found in 1926. Next to that were diseases of eye and ear. Skin and respiratory system came next in numbers.

Even though the Dispensary numbers were less last year and there were few calls into the town, still the work in the Hospital and the Dispensary kept the whole staff very busy all the time.

The Dispensary work now is organized so that more careful observations can be made on all patients, including laboratory tests when needed, and the doctors can do many more of the treatments themselves. This year in the Dispensary the most often recorded diseases were those of the respiratory system, next the digestive system, next eyes, next women's diseases.

Much time and care has been given to the in-patient department, which has increased considerably. Here maternity cases formed the largest numbers, being 133 last year against 102 in 1926, and 94 in 1925. Operative work has increased and is increasing. The daily in-patient average rose during the year from 25 to 40, and 764 in-patients have been admitted in 1927.

A great many come to us with hopeless conditions, but because we can nurse them and make them comfortable we do not send them home unless they live, ~~near~~ and it is desired by the patient and her people. The wards were unusually full in December, 1927, and January of this year. These are months when they are usually most empty. Now we are full to capacity and we do not know what we will do during the year when more patients usually come.

We are thankful that the Nurses' Home is going up now; that will relieve us a little and make the nurses far more comfortable.

PALMANER

Educational Work

The Women's Industrial School.—MISS JONGEWAARD reports: The dreams for the Women's Industrial School are in part being realized. We are most grateful to all those who helped to bring this school up to its present standing and hope that it may ever continue to fill a great need in our Arcot Assembly District.

During the first part of this year we were in very crowded quarters, having all of our classes on the Hostel verandas. But we were not discouraged, because we knew that it was "not for always." During the month of July we moved the classes into the remodelled school building. Since that time we have been enjoying the five airy, spacious rooms. We appreciate them even more after the hot days spent on the verandas, because of their coolness.

In spite of the big building program going on, the work of the school girls has not been hindered. Our sales have been constantly increasing and at no time has any of our work lingered long on the shelves. Both the American and the local sales have been most encouraging. There are at the present time 18 school-workers and 24 regular outside workers who send in their work and receive pay for the same. We are doing embroidery work, pillow-lace, sewing and cross-stitch. The cross-stitch worked in Oriental designs has continued to find a ready market and the girls enjoy doing it.

Since June we have had an enrollment in the Hostel of 62 girls. Besides the girls in boarding we have one Hindu day-scholar and 10 Hindu women and girls who come to school three days a week for lessons in lace work and sewing. We are very much encouraged and happy to realize that our school is being recognized more fully, not only by our Christian community but also by our local Hindu community. Applications are now on file for a number of our village girls who are waiting to be admitted. If funds were available and conditions suitable we could increase our enrollment to 100 in a very short time.

We now have seven fine double cottages for the girls and two double cottages for the teachers. In each of the girls' cottages there are groups of six or eight girls, living as nearly as possible like a family group. Each member of the family has her own duties, including cooking, water carrying and cleaning, to do each day. Each family has a plot of ground near to their cottages for a garden. From these gardens they are getting a fine supply of vegetables. It is most interesting and encouraging to see a hard, rocky, unfertilized plot change into a lovely garden of flowers and vegetables in a few months. The girls are taking a great pride in these gardens. We hope it may not be long hence when we can develop a great part of our compound land so as to have gardens sufficient to furnish all vegetables for school use as well as for commercial purposes. When our wind-mill begins turning we hope to have plenty of water for extensive gardening.

Our school work begins at 8:30 in the morning and closes at 4:15 in the afternoon, with two and a half hours off at noon to give the girls plenty of time to do their cooking, cleaning and resting. Their day begins at dawn because there are many household duties to perform before they all file out from the cottages to the school. Not only is embroidery work and sewing taught, but there is also definite class work in Bible study, reading, arithmetic, design, and drawing.

Since Miss Smallegan has returned from her furlough we have found it possible to begin the Village Extension work which has been the thought and hope of those in charge of this school for so many years. For ten days or two weeks of every month one of us with the help of one of our teachers is out in our Christian villages helping the women who desire our help. We have started work in five centers and have enrolled 52 women in our groups with others being added every time we go out. One group has already asked for a full-time teacher to be in charge and to help them every day. This is very encouraging and, though that is not possible now, it may be in the future. Some of these women have been in the Lace Class in years gone by but have not continued to work and therefore need help again; others are eager to learn to sew and embroider for their own families, while the majority are anxious to learn and do well so that they may become outside workers of the school and thus add to the meager family income. We are only making a start this year in this Extension Work and hope to continue to be a great power for good in helping our Christian village women.

The School Bungalow is completed and we are delighted with its compactness yet roominess. Thanksgiving Dedication Services of the Jubilee Buildings were held on the 24th of November.

Miss Cobb's verse "Whatsoever ye do, do heartily as unto the Lord," has continued to be our motto and it truly worked for good in this school. Miss Cobb has presented to the school a carved plaque with this motto. As it continues to be before us and in our hearts every day, may we continue in His service who has so bountifully blessed and provided for us and our work.

CHITTOOR

Educational Work

Chittoor Schools.—MISS WYCKOFF reports: Twelve more months have passed, each with its special gift given or taken:

January brought Mrs. and Miss Conklin back to us from America to live in the newly renovated bungalow on the old Mission compound. They took back the guardianship of two of the Chittoor schools—Reedpet and Gridley—which are reported elsewhere. The same month took from us Miss Van Doren, whom we have lent for two years to the wider service of the National Christian Council, which sends her journeying from Cape Comorin to the Himalayas on its various educational surveys. In her place came Miss Mary Geege from Palmaner, and she has become so much a part of the school that we forget that she was ever not here.

February was the month of sports, when both the Beattie and Sherman compounds rang with laughter and the shouts of earnest practice every afternoon. First came the Ranipet team to defend their shield against the Sherman Middle School, but after a hard fight in basket-ball, badminton, captain-ball and field sports, they lost it to Chittoor. Then Sherman High School fought on the same battle-grounds, to get the silver cup back from the Training Students, and actually got it. Moreover, the Chittoor District Sports were open again to girls. Quite a delegation from the High and Training Schools, as well as youngsters from the Model School, took a trip to Madanapalle to compete with the girls there, and came back proudly displaying badges and prizes.

March, as always, was the dread month of examinations, when Leo like a giant question-mark, shone brightly overhead each evening, while anxious girls toiled over their books, and dreamed of their unsolved sums. The Training School Seniors had their week's ordeal first, and then departed on an excursion to visit Madras, while the High School Seniors filled whole exam-books with their nervous scrawl.

April was the month of farewells. First the training students had their graduation exercises and set forth to begin at once their work as primary teachers in schools widely separated. Two weeks after them the Sixth Form were wiping away their tears while being feted and garlanded and sent out into the "wide, wide world." By April 27th the school was closed for the summer.

May was the month of holidays—the American staff in Kodai-Kanal and Kashmir, the rest widely scattered in their homes.

June brought us all together again—the empty gaps in our ranks more than filled by thirty tiny girls from the villages, a new Junior Training class from Ranipet school, and numbers of new older girls for the High School classes. June was our month of triumph, for we got the results of our examinations and the High School results were the best in the Presidency, nine out of ten having passed.

July saw our last year's "grand old Seniors" settling down to new places. One went to the Women's Christian College, Madras, two to the Government college, and the rest to normal schools in Madras and Madura, except for one who went to Medical School. An old girl of some years past came back as a doctor to start private practice in the town.

August brought new vision to the High School girls who were elected as delegates to the Y. W. C. A. conference at the seashore near Madras. The rest were busy preparing for the big entertainment at which the older girls gave Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" and the little ones gave "Alice in Wonderland."

September brought the Government Inspection, when all parts of the school were on trial for five days. We won a good report, which in its turn brought us a larger grant than we have ever had before from the Department of Education—a gift that greatly helped to allay our financial doubts and fears. This month also brought the beginning of the renovation of the Model School building with the gift of $1,000 from the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. No sooner did the digging start than a whole section of the wall collapsed, showing how necessary the repairs were.

October started happily for the High School Seniors, with their week's camping trip on a mountain near Madanapalle, but ended in a cloud of unhappiness because of the tragic death of one of their number, Rajam Samuel, who was found dead in the well one afternoon. The school has never before been called upon to go through so great a trial of its courage and faith as on that dark day, and even more on the days and during the nights that followed, when superstitious fear peopled every corner of the compound with ghosts and demons. With all our efforts we could not quite stem the tide of heathenism that flooded even into our peaceful borders. The Hindus of the neighboring village felt called upon to exorcise the spirit from the well in our absence later in the year, but it was only after long trials that God at last exorcised the demon of fear from our hearts.

November was a month of steady, humdrum work, much needed after our harrowing experiences.

December took from us the Conklins for a season, and brought us a Christmas present in the return of the de Wolfes to be with us for a year. The repairs of the Model School hostel have transformed that antique and crumbling structure into a delightful place with windows everywhere, white walls and green woodwork, and a great open-air sleeping porch on the roof, not to mention a covered veranda passage-way to the kitchen, which should lengthen the Matron's life by several years. Thank you, W. B. F. M., for your gift! You should hear the little ones shout: "Isn't our home beautiful? It's the most beautiful of all."

And so the twelve months of 1927 have brought us happy hours and sad—even dreadful hours, but the glad ones have out-weighed the sad. We grew very much closer to each other and to the Heavenly Father in our sorrow, and appreciated all the more keenly the joyous memories that the year has given us.

"Another year is dawning,
Dear Father, let it be
Another year of service—
Another year with Thee."

Evangelistic Work

Zenana Work.—MRS. DEVASITHAM ISAAC reports: There have been a number of changes this year. Instead of having all the Sunday School classes in the church we have them in different places. In the High School we have classes for both the High School girls and the Training students. In the Beattie Memorial Training Model School there is another Sunday School with a specially trained kindergartner in charge of it. There is a special Sunday School at Reedpet for the women of that village. Down at Gridley School there is a combined Sunday School of Telugu and Tamil for boys and girls. Groups of High School girls and Training students, headed by the Zenana teachers, go to different villages near by and teach Sunday School lessons to women and children.

The public is taking such an interest in the health of the people by having a Health Week each year, when there are exhibitions, lantern lectures, dramatizations and prize competitions in different parts of the town on general diseases, hygiene, care of babies, etc.

The Baby Welcome Home is doing splendid work. Now a nurse from Madras has come with her family to live in the house. The Baby Welfare Association, entirely composed of women, is managing this and now the average number of children who come to this Home is 36. This association is really doing a very great service to the poor children and their mothers.

There are two Guide Companies and a Blue Bird Company at Chittoor. We are starting a new Guide Company for Hindu women in the town and we expect to start a Blue Bird Company for Hindu children.

On Sunday there are two services in the church, one in Telugu and one in Tamil. On special occasions we have combined services. Now we have women elders and women deacons in the Chittoor congregation. This shows the growing responsibility of women and the growth of their interest in the church.

Chittoor is a place of interest for people from other places. Though Gridley School is quite a tiny one compared to the High School, a number of people visit the Kindergarten Class. There are nearly fifty children in this class, and it is the leading class of Grid-ley School. The Beattie Memorial Training students come here for practice teaching.

In the first week of last April the Zenana teachers and Miss Conklin and myself camped near a village called Panattoor and stayed there for four days, and from there went to preach in many villages round about. Men, women and children listened to us and though they were quite strange to us they received us kindly. We were able to sell a number of Gospel booklets in these villages and we gave a picture card to each buyer.

There are five Zenana teachers teaching in the houses in Chittoor and near by. There is another working in a village called Arakonda. The new catechism book contains 100 Bible verses, many one-lined verses, some psalms, beatitudes, the ten commandments, and some prayers.

On every weekday morning we meet together in the church at 11.00 A. M. just before going out to the houses. On Mondays we have inspirational meetings, when some one gives a speech and sometimes all of us take part. On Friday mornings we have Scripture story-telling meetings, when one teacher tells a story just as she will relate it in the houses and the rest of us add something more of what we feel about it. On the other three mornings we just have short prayers and learn one or two songs to teach in the houses.

VELLORE

Social Service

MISS ETHEL T. SCUDDER writes: The Bible women's work and our efforts to get into closer touch with the educated and wealthy Hindu women is all a part of our Social Center Work. But besides this there are the activities that are carried on in the Social Center itself.

The Center is an Indian house in the center of town. Two Indian workers live there all the time. They keep open house, and people come in as they feel like it for help and counsel.

Every afternoon, from one to five, we have classes for little Hindu girls who have stopped school because they are almost of age and are not allowed by their parents to go to the government school or to a mission school. We have twelve children now and they study Tamil, English, handwork, sewing and Bible and end up with physical drill.

Bi-monthly we have lectures for all the women. We alternate religious and secular subjects. One week it is "Diet and Health," the next week the "Life of Christ," illustrated with beautiful stereopticon slides. From forty to one hundred women attend these lectures.

It is our earnest prayer that we may be alert to our opportunities, and move in the right direction, and that through us and our work Jesus Christ may enter the hearts of the Hindu and Mohammedan women of Vellore. Please remember in your prayers very especially the Women's Social Center of Vellore.

RANIPETTAI

Educational Work; Girls' Higher Elementary School

MISS CAROLINE L. INGHAM reports: The third year of our life in Ranipettai has been a happy one. Nothing startling has occurred, but we feel that we have made progress, in some small way at least, along the lines which we have set for ourselves as standards of endeavor and growth. To give the girls not only book learning and some practical experience and training in things of everyday life, but also freedom and breadth of outlook, resourcefulness; love of living, this is our aim, and how far we fall short of attaining it, only we know. But as each year goes by, we feel that we are acquiring a better knowledge and understanding of the needs of our girls, and a greater facility in meeting these needs.

We have made a few changes in the building, enlarging the kindergarten room, much to the joy of the youngest members. We look forward to building new cottage hostels to relieve the present congestion and give a proper foundation for training in home making. Scarcity of water early in the year made it impossible to plant as big gardens as we did the year before, but we have managed two crops of peanuts and a few vegetables. Our hens lay prize eggs, and the girls are getting splendid experience in taking care of them. We are trying a new experiment, a very tentative one, in giving special training in drawing or sewing to a few girls, in order to enable them to obtain Government certificates which would make them eligible for teaching posts without the need of general training. The number of girls available every year for teacher's training is greater than the demand for teachers, so we hope in this way to equip a few who could not otherwise become teachers, to become mistresses in special subjects. We very much hope this new scheme will be successful, for we believe it will make our school more useful to the community, and will provide a greater opportunity for our girls.

We have had several gifts from friends during the year, which have made it possible for us to buy a number of very beautiful pictures for the assembly hall and classrooms, scales to weigh the children, a good many new books. Every year through such kindnesses we are able to have more of the necessary and the beautiful things with which to surround our girls and to make their lives happy and full. If they carry home with them after they leave us something of the art of living and of its joy and beauty, we shall feel content.

Medical Work

Scudder Memorial Hospital.—MISS NOORDYK, the Nursing Superintendent, reports: The medical work has been carried on in the old Hospital for over sixty years. As one looks at our old dilapidated building and then beholds the new one, very beautiful indeed and well fitted for modern hospital treatment, one realizes that there will be a tremendous difference, a great step forward in Medical Mission work as far as our Mission is concerned.

During the past, patients who came to our Hospital from the surrounding villages have made the Hospital their home more or less. They brought with them their family and all that was needed to keep the family fed and clothed while the sick one was in the Hospital. Cooking pots, drinking vessels, chairs and a cot if they possessed them, a tin trunk containing clothing, firewood, rice, etc. We have at times had patients who brought a cow with them, tied it to the veranda and supplied the needed milk in that way.

I have seen Brahmin patients who brought beautiful silver vessels with them. Then there are the large numbers of poor people, Christians, Mohammedans, Hindus and outcastes who come to us. They, too, bring their families but as we cannot feed them all, some of the family must return to their villages leaving one relative to attend to the sick one.

Years ago when the cost of living was not so high, and one had money left out of the appropriations at the end of the year, one could afford to feed relatives and give other help that is not possible now.

Our Maternity Ward is situated in a wide open space without any wall protection, and any one has access into it at any time, day or night. It is not uncommon when one makes rounds a little late in the evening to find on the floor the fathers and the husbands sound asleep by the side of the patients. I go around waking them all and advising them to spend the night on the veranda if they must be near. They all give their assent, but I know that half an hour after I am gone they return to their former place. One evening this week I made rounds and found one man, two women and six children sleeping by the bed of a patient. I inquired why all the children were there and was informed that they had come to see the patient rather late, it grew dark quickly and so they stayed the night.

Of course all this amuses one at times, but it is not conducive to the proper conducting of a Hospital. And that is where a great change will take place in our new Hospital. With proper doors, gates and even a partially built compound wall we may limit the number of attendants strictly to one. But what a campaign of education will be necessary in the beginning! We may be able to say more about that next year.

We are grateful for what has been accomplished in the past and pray and trust that "even greater things" shall be done in the future.

It is a great pleasure to have Dr. Galen F. Scudder back with us again to assume the greater burden of the work. To those who helped us out during Dr. Scudder's absence we wish to extend our gratitude, especially to Dr. Carol E. Jameson of the Vellore Medical School, who spent a year with us and who has made herself beloved both among the staff and the community of Ranipet; also to Dr. A. Chorley of Madanapalle and Dr. G. Robinson of Sholinghur, who helped us for short periods.

Our staff is somewhat larger than last year, two student compounders and three student nurses having been added. We have worked together in Christian fellowship for the sake of Him who loved us and gave Himself for us. May we be ever ready to serve Him better.

Evangelistic Work

Home Education and Zenana Work.—MRS. HONEGGER reports: Our evangelistic work carries us beyond Ranipettai and its confines to eight villages. We are instructing 250 pupils, and Mrs. Pandian, the superintendent, writes there are many signs of real affection and love for Christ our Saviour. Many wish to learn to pray; so they ask me to write out a little prayer for them. A few know the Lord's Prayer. A couple of years ago they did not care to have us pray in their houses, but now we are allowed to pray in His dear name. Just to illustrate the changed attitude toward prayer, I relate the following incident. I was urging the mother of a sick child to take her to the hospital for treatment and told her that she must have faith that the Doctor who is above all doctors, our Lord Jesus Christ, has wonderful healing power toward those who have great faith. After we had talked at length, the women sitting near and especially the mother said, "Amma, pray for us and for our baby." Then they gripped my hand with a joy which led me to believe they were touched by God. Thus it is that we labor in His name. Formerly we were not encouraged to hold public meetings in the villages, but now the Hindu women are taking a great interest in planning for the meetings and insist upon our coming often.

Hindu Girls' School.—MRS. HONEGGER continues: Over 125 children come to us from the high caste homes which are all about us and of course the Bible is taught every day. The beautiful Christian songs are heard each morning as the dear children assemble for prayers.

The Blue Birds form a part of our flock, but alas, in spite of Social Reformers, the age of consent is still low and many of the Blue Birds fly away at an early age to seek other homes for themselves. We can but pray that the seeds of truth which they may have picked up shall not have been lost, but may bring forth fruit in later life.

Social Service.—MRS. HONEGGER writes further: "Vinmoni Valasam" has an "Open Door" for all of God's children and it has been a great joy and inspiration to us to have many men and women come to rest a bit within our family circle. Our first Christian wedding at the Centre was celebrated July 7th, at which time many Hindu friends joined with us. Fortnightly our little Fellowship meetings are held in the Mandapam; there we meet for special prayer and fellowship. On Sunday we have Sunday School for our school children. Our work may not be large, but we strive to create an atmosphere among our Hindu brothers and sisters whom we are here to serve.

The Christmas entertainment and festivities brought many of the Hindu women to share the joys of Christ's birth. "The Other Wise Man" dramatized by the Ranipet Boarding School, together with our little Christmas play, impressed upon the minds of our Hindu sisters the "Gift of Love." To the women and to the school children little remembrances are given, many of which are taken from the Sewing Guild box.

The Sewing Classes held three times a week provide instruction and a few annas per month for each pupil. The great purpose of these hours of sewing is to gather together older women, who will not study with the Bible women, in order to instruct them in the Bible and to teach them Bible verses and Christian lyrics. Another purpose for our meeting and classes is to cultivate a real lasting feeling of friendship which is based upon Jesus Christ.

Over 4,000 men have passed through our Reading Room and enjoyed and profited by the reading of magazines and papers so kindly given by friends in America, and we need more religious reading material. People from villages seven and fourteen miles away come once or twice a week to read and they take books home with them. We have one illustrated Life of Christ, which is seldom in the Reading Room.

Through the Lecture Course which is carried on as a part of the Reading Room program, the townsmen have come face to face with the claims of Christ's life and teaching.

ARNI

Evangelistic Work

Zenana Work.—MRS. FARRAR reports: The Zenana work in Arni has been going steadily on this past year in 120 homes, and our four Bible women report progress and a growing interest. Some of our pupils in these homes were once pupils in our Hindu Girls' Schools, and these take a special interest in the Bible lessons.

Some of them claim to be secret disciples and are eager to be taught how to pray, as well as the songs and Bible stories.

In some homes, where the husband objects to the wife's taking the instruction we give, the woman will make it a point to visit her neighbor's house at the time the Bible woman visits the home, and so she listens, as do many others, to the lessons that are being taught.

One little woman, who heard the Gospel message in this way, has given up home, children and all for His sake. She is now in Vellore with some of our Medical School ladies, happy as she has never been before. Her one sorrow is that she is separated from the two younger children and she is hoping that a way will open so that we can get these children for her. At present they are guarded and kept by her father. He and all her family are very bitter toward her because of this step she has taken. We are not holding her, she is free to go back, but she says, "The taunts, threats and abuses cannot hurt me. I'll never go back. I do not know much, but what I do know and just believing in Jesus has given me joy and peace such as I never knew before, and that no one can take from me." We hope soon to place her where she will receive regular instruction and we trust and pray that this brave, gentle little woman will be used mightily in His service. We cannot blame these little Hindu women for shrinking from taking such a step. To leave home and children and the sheltered life they are used to and to accommodate themselves to new surroundings and to an entire change of life is no easy thing. We agree that in many cases it is much better for them to continue in their homes and, secretly if need be, to quietly live the Christ life and so to influence their loved ones by their changed life. This also is no easy task. But as to which is best we are satisfied to let God be the judge, who looks on the heart and not on outward appearances. That the word is bearing fruit we have no doubt whatever.

This year we have also had one Bible woman in Chetpet, a small town eighteen miles from Arni. It is a bigoted Hindu center and not cordial to new ideas or changes. However, it was not long before our Bible woman had 30 homes into which she could take the Gospel message. We were surprised that she found entrance so readily into these Hindu homes. The reason given was that some twenty-five years ago the Mission had a Hindu Girls' School in Chetpet and many of the women, now in the homes where our Bible woman visits, were once little girls in this Hindu Girls' School. They remember some of the lessons and songs taught them at that time by our Christian women teachers and they now welcome the Bible woman, eager to be taught more or to have daughters instructed. It is something we are thankful for.

In both Arni and Chetpet our Bible women are cordially received. Many more homes could be visited had we the workers and the means to support them.

Hindu Girls' Schools.—MRS. FARRAR continues: As we enter the Arnipalayam, Kosapalayam and Wandiwash Hindu Girls' Schools, we are greeted by over 300 happy children and a good number of faithful teachers. In both Arnipalayam and Kosapalayam we work against several rival schools, but none excels ours in standard, strength and efficiency. Good work is being done in all three schools and it is a joy to see pupils and teachers so happy and busily interested in their work.

The school at Wandiwash, twenty-eight miles from Arni, has had a set-back but is steadily improving this year. We have had to move to another building, which is not at all suitable for school purposes as it is, but Wandiwash is also bigoted and backward and there is a strong feeling against renting houses to Christians. The owner of the building we are in promises to do remodeling after the new year to make it more what a school building should be. We are hoping to secure another building that would not necessitate so many changes. Had we the means to buy this building ($700), we could soon remove inside walls and turn dark windowless rooms into light and airy classrooms. Nevertheless, the work done in the inconvenient building is of a good grade. The children are happy and intelligent and we feel that what is put into the school is not in vain.

Opening of the New Hospital Buildings at Vellore

RUTH SCUDDER DE WOLFE

March 5th dawned, as blue and silver with its sky and blowing leaves as the colors of the Vellore Medical School it was to honor. For on this day, was to take place the event for which so many anxious hearts and hands had been striving, the formal opening of the new hospital buildings by Their Excellencies the Governor of Madras and Viscountess Goschen.

By three o'clock the crowds were beginning to arrive and to gaze with admiration at the shining new buildings, the realization of a dream of many year's standing. A spacious canopy, sheltering over two thousand, and decorated in true Indian way with waving mango and plantain leaves; had been erected, and Indian Boy Scouts and Girls Guides ushered in the throng. It was a truly cosmopolitan gathering illustrating union as only India can, for seated side by side were English, Americans and Europeans, Hindus in gorgeously colored scarfs and turbans, Nationalists in rough khaddar wearing the Ghandi cap, and Mohammedans with flowing beards and coats. A picturesque touch of color and charm was lent by the section reserved for Indian women, where nearly one thousand sat, their rainbow-colored saris reminding one of a flower garden as they nodded and smiled their enthusiasm for an object so especially their own.

The Governor's car passed from Katpadi to Vellore under a series of welcoming arches proclaiming the honor felt at Their Excellencies' coming, and promptly at four-thirty the speakers took their places on the platform under the canopy. Then singing was heard, and the crowd stirred and leaned eagerly forward as an impressive procession of the Junior Medical students entered, two by two, carrying festooned garlands of the star-like Jasmine flower. They formed an aisle through which marched the Seniors in white and took their places at the front.

Dr. C. Frimodt Moller of the Arogyavaram Sanatorium had most appropriately been chosen Chairman, and he now introduced the Rev. S. W. Stenger of Madras, who offered a beautifully earnest prayer of consecration. Then the Rev. B. Rottschaefer, who has had so large a part in the final completion of the buildings, welcomed their Excellencies, mentioning that the great source of inspiration for the 500 coolies at work had been the promise that the Governor himself would inspect their accomplishment. He was followed by the graceful presentation of a bouquet to Viscountess Goschen by one of the Indian Staff and a valedictory address by Miss Mary Sathiavathi Moses, in which she voiced the joy of the graduating class in actually seeing the completion of the new hospitals and the debt of love and loyalty the students felt for their Alma Mater. After the singing of the College Song by the entire student body, Viscountess Goschen graciously presented the following prizes:

For General Proficiency: to Miss Moses, a gold medal presented by Sr. Md. Habbibullah Sahib, K.C.S.I.

For Surgery: to Miss Moses and second Miss Annamma Chacko.

For Medicine: to Miss Anna John and second Miss Harriet Abraham.

For Obstetrics: to Miss Dulcie Henry and second to Miss Siromani Abraham.

Then again a hush and an eager thrill ran through the audience as Dr. Ida S. Scudder arose to speak. There was no need for her to express her deep joy and thankfulness, her very face was radiant at this fulfilment of a dream held high through so many years of waiting and planning and hoping. She took us back with her to those days, only a decade ago, when there was no Medical School for Women in all South India, when students with the desire to help the suffering of women must travel thousands of miles to reach a medical school for women in the North or take the course in a co-educational institution in Madras. Then she pictured how the vision grew in the minds of Mrs. Henry Peabody (once a Missionary in Madras) and other friends of this Medical School at Vellore which should meet the great need of India's womanhood; in what humble and inadequate quarters of two rented bungalows it had its beginnings; how many chill winds of discouragement and lack of funds it had to weather. Also she mentioned with just pride the fact that after so many gloomy predictions of failure the first class passed its Government Examinations 100 per cent., and that the 80 graduates since then have been filling-spheres of real usefulness and consecrated service. Finally she spoke of the heroic achievement for the Seven Christian Colleges for Women in the East, a movement again originated and carried through by Mrs. Peabody and other consecrated friends, which had made these beautifully appointed and modern hospital buildings a reality. And she closed with the prayer that these hospitals may not only be a mighty force for alleviating suffering, but that they may so breathe the Spirit of Christ, that no inmate may leave without feeling that He is its foundation and inspiration.

The Governor's answering address was marked by a fine spirit of sincere appreciation of what Mary Taber Schell Hospital has meant to India in the past, and of its added value and usefulness through enlarged space and equipment. Since the opening of the Vellore Medical School he reminded the audience that three different Governors had evinced the keenest interest in it, and he added that he thought he could prophesy that the Government would always remain its close friend. He also mentioned Government's appreciation of the great contribution Missions are making to India, and of the spirit of courage and sacrifice evinced in their selfless work of love. In closing he touched on the need for education in sanitation and hygiene which the Medical School was meeting, and then, turning to the students, he charged them above all to remember that they could carry no greater gift away with them than the ideals of sacrifice and Christ-like service exemplified by those who lived for this Hospital.

Dr. Fridmott Moller responded to the Governor's address by expressing the thanks of all present to their Excellencies for their attendance on this occasion. He stressed the hope that in the future Schell Hospital would be noted not only for the relief and help it would bring to the suffering, but also for the valuable contribution it may offer India in the way of research work. At the close of his speech he mentioned the great debt of gratitude the school owes not only to friends in the United States of America but also to those in Great Britain, Denmark and India who, through their generosity, have made it possible to maintain the Medical School and its hospitals.

A silver key was presented to the Governor by that true friend of the Medical School, Miss Gertrude Dodd, and with it he formally opened the new buildings to the public. Each came in for its share of admiration, as the crowd streamed through the Ewart Maternity Building, the Cole Dispensary, the Children's Block—its three donors, Miss Scripps, Mrs. Pyle and New Haven—the Weyerhauser Hospital with its Operating Block and the Fillebrown Nurses' Hostel. Everywhere their eyes were greeted with airy, beautifully tiled rooms and verandas, the last word in sanitation, ventilation and modern equipment. And as they peered into the operating room with its great window and spotless marble floor, or lingered a moment in the attractive waiting room with its carved stone pillars, its restful palms and ferns, more than one murmured "It's perfect, just like a Western Hospital."

But one who saw deeper found an expression of consecrated service on the faces of those connected with the hospitals down to the smallest of white-capped nurses that meant more than the outward buildings, "For where love is, there is God."

The year has brought its quota of changes. Early in 1927 Mrs. Ruigh's connection with the Mission was severed by the resignation of her husband and their return to America. Her departure from Japan, the land of her birth, was greatly regretted by herself and a wide circle of friends. At the close of the year Miss Shafer, who had done most excellent work as treasurer of the Mission, announced her engagement to a member of another Mission, and asked that her resignation be accepted, to take effect this spring. Our loss, which we feel to be great, is another's gain; and she has our best wishes in her new career. The Nagasaki station, being thus deprived of two of its members, rejoices to receive Mrs. Ryder, whose place at Saga is now filled by our newest member, Mrs. Laug. A new station has been opened at Beppu, which formerly was part of the Oita station, and here Mrs. Peeke with her husband is actively at work, while Mrs. Kuypers has returned from furlough to carry on at Oita.

YOKOHAMAEducational Work; Ferris Seminary

MR. SHAFER reports: The year that is past has continually reminded us of the words of Deuteronomy (8:2). The Lord has graciously led us through a wilderness of difficulties, and has brought us within sight of the promised land. At every turn we have been conscious in a special way of His providential leading. He has put His stamp of approval on the rebuilding of the school by the way He has brought us through the difficulties, and in true humility we can only give thanks to Him.

The decision to ask the Government for recognition was taken last year at the fall meeting of the Board of Directors. Immediate steps were taken to prepare the necessary papers and make application. The inspectors visited the school on May the 27th and the official announcement of the granting of the recognition appeared in the Gazette of July the 6th. The recognition, however, was dated back to become effective with this year's graduates. This places our graduates on a par with the graduates of any other school of equal grade and permits them to go up for examination to any of the colleges or universities, a privilege which they have not had heretofore. We are convinced that this is the step to take under the present circumstances, although we wish to bear testimony to the success of the policy of carrying on the school entirely outside the Government system in the past. It should, perhaps, be said that our school is not now different in any respect so far as the standing with the Government is concerned from any of the other schools of the Mission. Up to this time, we were the only school in the Mission that did not have recognition. In order to secure recognition it was necessary to have a fund of 20,000 Yen on deposit in Japan. Fortunately, through the efforts of Dr. Booth and others on the faculty and among the alumnae, there were funds designated as the Emily Stelle Booth Memorial Fund and also undesignated funds raised for endowment, which could be funded for this purpose without changing the original purpose for which the funds were collected, so that it was not necessary to make a special appeal for this purpose. Before leaving this point, I want to bear testimony to the uniform courtesy and kindness with which the officials of the local government offices, as well as of the national department of education, met us and helped us to success. The mayor and governor both interested themselves in the project and gave their aid at crucial points. It was largely due to their efforts and the efforts of the many other friends of the school that we were able to have the recognition for the graduates of this year.

Last year we reported the purchase of the Union Church property. The project of securing the condemnation of the road between our old property and this new addition has taken considerable of our time and thought, and we are glad to be able to report that this is gone far enough for us to be able to begin building at any time. There are some formalities in connection with acquiring title to the road which have yet to be carried through, but we have the assurance of the city authorities that there will be no difficulty and that we may proceed to build at any time. The Mayor, Mr. Ariyoshi, has been sympathetic from the beginning and his support has made the project possible. Mr. Jimbo, one of the parents, a member of the Kaigan Church and an expert in real estate matters, has given us his services free of charge in preparing the necessary papers.

We reported last year, also, that the provincial government had put a wall along the base of the cliff and sodded the face of the same where the slide took place at the time of the earthquake. Additional work has been done at this same place to make the cliff at that point safe, a concrete wall having been built part way up and the slope cut back. In addition, the government is rebuilding the stone walls along the east side of the lot at a cost of over 10,000 Yen, a piece of work that we had been planning to do ourselves. This releases a sum of money which can be used in leveling the back of our lot for a playground. We are very grateful to the government for this assistance, which amounts in effect to a substantial gift to the reconstruction of the school.

The original site of the school has been resurveyed and certain slopes between the upper and lower level of our lot which had up to this time belonged to the government were included in our property. This has made it possible to build a retaining wall between the upper and lower levels of the lot and broaden the upper level somewhat for playground uses. It will also give us a proper basketball court on the lower level, which has been filled in and broadened to make this possible. This work has been begun and will be completed early in the new year. This with the work being done by the government will complete the work on the retaining walls and there remains only the leveling and fencing to be done after the new building has been completed.

A good deal of our time this year has been spent in getting ready for the building of the main Kuyper Memorial Building. We began early in the year to draw definite plans. Fortunately, Dr. and Mrs. Hill were here in the spring and were able to give us material assistance in crystalizing the decision. Until they arrived we were uncertain whether to build of wood or concrete, but they advised us to proceed with our plans for concrete and consequently early in the summer we were in a position to begin on the details. We had hoped to let the contract by the end of the year, but there were various delays so that this was impossible, but we were able to get the drawings and specifications in shape for the contractors so that we shall be in a position to let the contract by the end of January. We cannot be too grateful to Dr. and Mrs. Hill for their encouragement and assistance. It is very difficult to see how we should have been able to carry out the project without them.

They were also of material assistance in the completion of the organization of the Supporters' Association, the preliminary plans for which had been completed at the end of last year. On account of the Emperor's death and other circumstances the completion of the organization of the Association had been delayed until Dr. and Mrs. Hill arrived. By calling and by meeting with the Committee they were able to give us valuable assistance in getting the Association at work. Since that time Miss Hayashi and I have made several hundred calls and by the end of the year have secured 6,522 Yen in cash and promises amounting to 36,780 Yen. Two amounts of 5,000 each, of which we are assured, might properly be added to the above. The alumnae have collected 9,000 in cash and promises amounting to 16,400. This makes a total to date in promises and cash from friends in Japan of 63,180. Adding the 10,000 additional, we have pledges amounting to 73,180 Yen. This sum will be increased during this year, we feel assured.

We have already mentioned the visit of Dr. and Mrs. Hill, but their coming to us meant so much to us all that I feel that I must give it a special paragraph. They entered heartily into the spirit of our plans and met many engagements daily with the utmost cheerfulness. They attended dormitory and faculty dinners, student entertainments, and various functions in connection with the graduation in addition to the regular graduation exercises and the Directors' meeting. The students and teachers came in intimate contact with them and their practical demonstration of the Christian spirit made a deep impression upon everyone. Since they have left, I have heard many expressions of deep inspiration received in contact with them.

There have been few changes in the teaching staff during the year. At the end of the spring term Miss Buss left on furlough and Mrs. Muyskens came back to the school in the autumn. Very faithful work has been done by both the Japanese and American members of the faculty and it has been a pleasure to be associated with them.

In March the total enrollment was 372. Of these 71 graduated from the main course and 13 from the post-graduate course. In April 79 new students were entered and the enrollment in April was 381. This had fallen in December to 368.

The commencement exercises were attended by Mayor Ariyoshi, Mr. Isaka, the President of the Chamber of Commerce and a representative of the Governor of the Province. Mr. Isaka made the commencement address. Col. Yamamuro of the Salvation Army preached the baccalaureate sermon.

The year has been one of rich blessing. The usual work was carried on and special speakers were heard as occasion offered. At the time of the meeting of the General Synod of the Church of Christ in Yokohama, Prof. Nijima, of the Sapporo Imperial University, and Mr. Tada, Pastor of the Kochi Church, the largest church in the denomination, spoke on successive mornings. Among the other speakers was Mr. Toyohiko Kagawa, the well known social worker. There were thirty-two baptisms, of whom two were teachers. We are especially grateful for this latter. One of the teachers had recently come to the school but the other had been with us some time. She was a Christian at heart but had never joined the church. She finally took this step just before Thanksgiving and we rejoice that she has been able to make this public confession. There are, at present, fifty Christian students in the school. I will not go into further detail with regard to this work, but prefer to send in full the report written by Miss Oltmans.

In addition to the gifts or promises mentioned above in connection with the alumnae and supporters' associations the following have been received:

For the building fund, from the Muscat, Arabia, Church.....	$ 82.58
For the building fund, from Mrs. E. W. Shafer.....	52.08
For the building fund, through Mrs. Ter Borg.....	32.00
For the building fund, from Mrs. J. Sywassink.....	52.63
For the building fund, from Mr. Ishikawa of the faculty.....	70.00
For cover for Bible already contributed, from Bible Class of the 48th Street Collegiate Church, through Mrs. E. E. Olcott	20.10
For promotion of supporters' association, from Dr. Wm. B. Hill	300.00
From Dr. Hill through sale of Life of Christ.....	125.00
From Mrs. Hill for printing of reports.....	104.71

We take pleasure in acknowledging the above gifts and would like to express our appreciation through this report of the kindness of the givers.

MISS JEAN OLTMANS writes: A number of events impress themselves upon my mind as I look backward upon the work of the past year. The first among them is that we have had great spiritual gains. Through the year, whether it be by personal work or Bible classes, by group prayers or silent ones, the heaven has been working and many hearts have been touched and brought closer to Christ. As a result of these influences 28 girls have become Christians during the year. In November, the Y. W. C. A. held a meeting in which these girls were welcomed into the membership of the association. Since one of the aims of the organization is to keep its members actively interested, our task is to initiate these new members into some form of committee work. One way in which this is accomplished is to train them as Sunday School teachers. In the two Sunday Schools for the neighborhood children for which the Y. W. C. A. makes itself responsible seven school girls have most faithfully assisted Miss Eringa and Miss Oltmans in the past year. During the summer, eight girls, chaperoned by Miss Hayashi, attended a conference given under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. The conference was held at Gotemba, a picturesque summer resort at the foot of Mount Fuji. The delegates returned after a week of study, recreation and fellowship, full of enthusiasm and a renewed interest in the work of our own organization. Until the fall term, when we have been without an assembly room, we were able to secure a number of interesting speakers for our association meetings. Among them were Miss Ueno, of the National Y. W. C. A., Mr. Imai of the Aoyama Gakuin and several of the local pastors. On October the tenth we were fortunate in securing Mr. Kagawa, who is engaged in social service work in Kobe, for an address to the school. His talk was a most inspiring one, full of wholesome advice to young Christians and it left a deep impression upon those who heard it. In November the week of prayer was observed with early morning prayer meetings, held during the half hour before chapel exercises. These meetings were well attended by both teachers and pupils.

The visit of Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Bancroft Hill to us in the spring has proved a great blessing. Their attitude of whole-hearted interest and sympathy in each one of us personally and in our work together has been a great inspiration.

A pleasant feature of the year has been the congeniality which has existed between the Japanese and foreign teachers of the school. One reason for this may be that we are sharing a common room with desks side by side; another, that we are sharing the same discomforts in our barracks school and that we are looking forward to sharing the same comforts and conveniences which we expect to have in the new school. And a third reason may be that we have had a number of social gatherings together. Among them have been luncheons and social hours with the members of the Board of Directors upon the two occasions of their spring and autumn meetings. Just before Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Shafer put the finishing touch to these pleasant gatherings when they invited the faculty members to a dinner and an evening of songs, games and other forms of entertainment.

The year 1927 closed successfully for us with a White Christmas program which was held in the Shiloh Church at Yokohama. In order to engender the spirit of giving, the Christmas program committee arranged for five or six chapel talks by school girls upon the Christmas spirit of giving. These appeals helped greatly to foster this spirit in all of us. Boxes were then placed in the classrooms to receive the gifts. As a result of these preparations, money gifts to the amount of Yen 160 were received and later distributed among several well-known charity organizations.

SHIMONOSEKI

Educational Work; Sturges Seminary

MISS PIETERS reports: "Precept upon precept; precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little and there a little."

There come times in the lives of institutions as of individuals, when life presents nothing outstandingly great, but rather a steady day to day maturing. Such has been the experience of Baiko during this past year. The Imperial mourning caused a period of quiet and of abandonment of certain special exercises. But as we look back, we are again impressed with the above words of Isaiah.

God has been good to us in giving health and strength to all who entered the year with us, and in only one case has illness caused grave anxiety.

In numbers the school has held its own, in spite of the great financial difficulties Japan has been called upon to face this year. We entered the year with an enrollment of 352, and graduated a class of 68 in March. The entering class in April numbered 85 in the regular, or High school and 7 in the Post-Graduate class. We close the year with 362 on the roll. Many schools have lost heavily because of the financial depression and the consequent withdrawals of students but we have been spared this disappointment.

The severe cold of the early part of the year gave the students opportunity of giving practical expression to their Christianity. Garments were solicited and remade for the destitute and suffering and notices were sent through the city office to those who were entitled to come for clothing. It was touching to see these young girls guide the tottering feet of old men and women up this hill to the room where clothing was distributed. One old lady remarked, "I asked Buddha this morning to send me something warm and then your message came." Later in the year many garments were made by the members of the Y. W. C. A. for the children of one of the leper colonies. Dainty and attractive scrap books were made by others for children in the leper hospitals.

The "Baby Clinic," instituted by a childless man teacher and conducted by him with the assistance of the post-graduate girls, is becoming quite a Baiko feature. Two were held this year, since there were so many more applications than the doctors could handle in the given time. One hundred and fifteen babies was the limit for the first day. Others were obliged to wait.

In athletics the school is developing a good reputation. Inter-school contests with government schools are impossible because of their Sunday games. But three Mission schools of southern Japan united and this year the games were held on the spacious grounds of the Southern Baptist school. Fortunately each school scored in one game at least and the day closed happily, with a fine exhibition of good sportsmanship on the part of all. These games being a new feature in the life of the Japanese women, the instructors are careful to instill into their students the importance of taking their defeat like "good sports." We are glad to see they are learning that lesson.

This being an accredited institution, government inspectors may be expected at any time, and this past year two came to examine into the qualifications of a music and a Bible teacher. There being no Bible class at that hour a class was called and the Bible teacher taught an impromptu lesson. One of the gentlemen was so impressed both with her class discipline and the content of her teaching that he returned the following day and asked her how she would instruct her class regarding the Imperial Rescript. He told her that in thinking over what he had heard in her class he felt ashamed to think that, compared with her, he had so little to give students that would help them in meeting the problems of life. Both women received recognition as teachers.

One is interested sometimes to see how God gives openings. One of the translation teachers, not a Christian, came to Miss Walvoord with the passage "The desert shall blossom as a rose—" and asked where it might be found and what it meant. He remarked that it was quite impossible for one not a Christian to understand English literature, and that he had requested that his schedule might be so rearranged as to enable him to attend her Bible classes in the New Testament. We pray it may lead him further than a mere understanding of English literature.

Among the interesting speakers this year who addressed the school were Dr. William Elliot Griffiths; Dr. Hill, whom, with Mrs. Hill, we were so glad to welcome; Mr. Haslett of the World's Student Christian Federation of Geneva; Miss Brockway of the Sunday School Association of the U. S. A., and Dr. Yamamoto of the Imperial University of Kyoto, who lectured on Astronomy. He is an earnest Christian and Superintendent of one of the large Sunday Schools of that city. Mr. Goshi, a pastor of one of the Tokyo churches, also gave a series of lectures on Church History which were most instructive.

It is our hope to bring to this community, as well as to the students of our own institution, musical opportunities from time to time, now that we have a suitable chapel. This year we were able to put on two concerts—one with outside talent assisted by members of our own musical faculty, and one by a real artist, Mr. Blinder, a very fine violinist. Both were well received and it was a joy to be able to give so many young people an opportunity of hearing some of our best music. Their close attention testified to their appreciation.

During the summer the Sunday School Association of Japan held one of its Conferences in our buildings, with Miss Brockway as the principal speaker on "How to tell the Bible stories to children." These conferences are a great inspiration to all who attend and enable them to meet other Christian workers of like interest.

Three Sunday Schools are conducted on the compound. The first is at eight-thirty for the dormitory students and is in charge of Miss Pieters assisted by the other foreign teachers and one Japanese lady. Miss Walvoord takes a class of young men at the church at the same hour. The dormitory school contributed Yen 40 to the sustenance of a former teacher who is ill, as well as sending generous gifts at Christmas to an orphanage, the lepers, and a needy Sunday School in Formosa. At one o'clock the neighborhood children come in to their Sunday School, which is in charge of Miss Johnstone assisted by our students. At the same hour Korean children meet in another building under the direction of our Korean students. Both groups had their special Christmas celebrations to which the parents were invited. There is always a talk for adults on these programs, and this year we were fortunate in having a missionary from Korea for the Korean celebration. We consider this work with the Korean children important in view of the large Korean population in Shimonoseki.

During the year no special revival services were held, but at a quiet service the students were given an opportunity of declaring their position. Two hundred expressed themselves as wishing to join the ranks of God's people. Twenty of these were received into the church the Sunday before Christmas, making a total of twenty-six during the year. The others are divided into classes for further preparatory study.

These students have been brought into Christ's Kingdom not so much because of special speakers brought in from the outside as because of the daily work of the school. We feel grateful that God has thus honored the work done for Him through the various religious activities of the institution.

NAGASAKI

Evangelistic Work

Miss Couch reports: House hunting and moving have usurped much precious time during the year 1927.

In February we moved into a convenient location, but into a very old and undesirable house. This was done with the hope that a permanent residence might be secured. The realization of this hope was assured when one of the Lord's faithful stewards gave the money necessary to purchase a house. But even then finding the right place was far from a simple matter. However, in December a good house in a healthful location was purchased and the New Year finds us and our scattered belongings under one roof, even if not in a settled state. Sunshine means so much in this climate, and we are so happy that each member of the family has a sunny room. Great is our gratitude for this gift of a home, and earnest is our prayer that it may be used for His glory. We are not too near any other center of Christian work, and there must be many opportunities all around us.

Children's Work: At the beginning of the year we had but two weekly children's meetings in the old established places. These I looked after alone until the latter part of March, when a graduate of the Methodist Girls' School came as a helper. We then began a third school in our home, and were fortunate in having the enthusiastic help of a young girl next door, a classmate of our new helper. This school grew, and in the autumn Miss Tomegawa also took one class. In September we were able to open another school in a new suburb of the city, a non-Christian graduate of the old Sturges Seminary offering us her home rent free.

There are all sorts of things to interfere with regular attendance in these schools, no matter on what day they are held, but we are thankful even for those who come only a few times. There have been about 80 registered in each of the four schools, and the total attendance at the Christmas celebrations was about 270. Our prayer is that many of these little ones may feel and respond to the touch of the Saviour who laid His hands on the children of old.

Calling: Calling in the homes has taken a large part of the time of Miss Tomegawa, and I also have done some. Our long residence here and the presence of some of our old pupils have given us entry into a good many homes. Very especially in this part of our work do we feel the need of the Spirit's guidance. He alone knows the heart that is prepared for the message, and He alone can give the "word in season."

Bible Classes: Miss Tomegawa's bi-weekly home Bible class for women, interrupted by our absence in 1926, was re-opened soon after we moved in February. She has also a weekly meeting in a Christian home in the suburb where my newest children's meeting is held and, for part of the year, another in the home of a Christian woman in the city. I have had student classes in the home, one in English Bible, and the other three a lesson in English followed by one in the Japanese Bible.

Publishing: In our monthly paper, the "Ochibo," we have tried for thirteen years to send forth God's Word, and we trust Him for the fulfillment of His promise that "it shall not return void." Miss Tomegawa's part of this work is decidedly the lion's share, as she prepares the manuscript even to translating my article, but Miss Suda, our young helper, has also an essential part, for she does the folding, wrapping, directing, mailing and most of the delivering in the city.

Our circulation slowly increases, even though occasionally names are dropped. We used 1,250 copies each month at the beginning of the year, and our last issue was 1,350. Sometimes a sender will ask for extra copies to give friends, and occasionally a request for the paper comes from an entire stranger, doubtless one who has seen it somewhere. We do not have very many subscribers who pay a regular price but there are many among the readers who contribute larger or smaller sums. There is nearly always one season of each year when the accounts show a deficit, but gifts from one source or another have always enabled us to close the year with a balance.

More and more in all the work we feel the need of Spirit-guided prayer, not only that we here may offer such, but that you at home may join with us in the prayer that "availeth much."

We are very thankful for the joy and inspiration brought us by Dr. and Mrs. Hill on their brief visit to Nagasaki. Our church women were very happy to have Mrs. Hill present at one of their society meetings. Among the special causes for personal gratitude is increased physical strength. If it is God's will, may it be continued and added to. We are thankful for the opportunities of the year, and earnestly pray that the Lord of the harvest will "multiply" the "seed sown."

"Unto Him be glory in the Church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen."

TOKYO

Evangelistic Work

Miss Lansing is unable to send a report. Last December in the Japan News Letter Mrs. Ryder reported: "Miss Lansing is well and happy at Kinuta Mura, a new village in the suburbs to the north of Tokyo. A few hours of English teaching in Seijo Gakuin, Bible classes for the boys, and other evangelistic work in the village, keep heart and hands busy." Alas, even before those words were published they were no longer true. Shortly after Thanksgiving Miss Lansing was taken seriously ill with heart trouble, and she has been in St. Luke's Hospital much of the time since then. Though she is improving she will need a thorough rest before further labors.

MISS EVELYN OLTMAANS reports: Through encouragements and through discouragements the work of the year has been carried on among the women and the children. The Sunday School that we hold on the Meiji Gakuin campus for children of the neighborhood meets every Sunday afternoon, and we have had an average attendance of forty. The difference among the children is quite marked. One group comes from very good middle-class homes, and most of them try to dress in foreign style, while another group comes from quite poor homes, and the style of dress is decidedly hit and miss. But they all are faithful in attendance and interested and alike need the precious seed that is sown in their youthful hearts. The same is true of the two other Sunday School classes that we hold on Sunday mornings and on Tuesday afternoons. The Bible stories that these children treasure in their minds and love to tell the following week, and the papers and cards that they take home—all are helping in a wonderful way to bring Christ into the lives of this people.

The kindergarten in Koyama has passed a successful year, with an average attendance of sixty children; the teachers have been kept busy, and the work is most interesting. Mothers' meetings have been held about once in two months. They would be held more often, but it is hard to get the busy mothers out from their homes. We have had various speakers to talk to us about children's problems, and to give us religious talks. And we have also had classes in foreign cooking. The increasing demand in Japan, especially in the cities, for foreign style in home life, architecture, dress and cooking makes the women eager to learn the foreign ways of doing things. This year three of our children have died. All three were from non-Christian homes. Through the illness and the death of these little ones, and by the simplicity and the reality of their faith in Jesus and their love for Him, these three homes have been profoundly impressed. It has brought out the parents to our church services. We hope that they may truly find the Lord as their Saviour, as He was to their little children. We have been struggling along for some time with a small organ in the kindergarten, but we started a fund with which to buy a piano. After Dr. and Mrs. Hill visited the kindergarten, they generously gave something to help along. In consequence, this autumn we purchased a piano. It is a delight to play and a wonderful and fascinating thing to the children.

The work in hospital visitation has been carried on and many patients have received Christian literature. Often we find that the yearning for better things and for God comes to those who lie on beds of suffering; so we hope that hearts are being touched, as the patients receive the Good News. In the autumn, a class for hymn singing and for Bible study was formed among the nurses. So we have greater opportunities to reach these girls who otherwise get no Christian influences. In the class we have been holding for two years among girls in a sewing-school, two girls have acknowledged Christ as their Saviour and have joined the church. We pray that these girls may ever remain true and loyal as they go back to their native towns and marry, most probably, non-Christian men. We may never know how hard it will be nor how great the opposition; but we do know that if these young women remain true to their Master, He will be gracious and tender and faithful to them. Unfortunately the sewing-school has moved to the other end of Tokyo, miles away, too distant for the girls to come to our home.

Evangelistic—Miss Lutton.

Medical—Dr. Hosmon and Mrs. Van Peurseem.

MISS LUTTON writes: Last year's report was "Things as they are." And while this year's may not exactly be "Overweights of Joy," there are some encouragements.

Many of the Sunday School children returned when the school was reopened. It seemed rather a drastic measure, but after much consideration, I resolved to withhold all Christmas dolls from the absentees. The morning the regular attendants were invited to come and receive the yearly Christmas gifts the wireless telegraph must have been busy, because a large attendance of former scholars—much to their surprise—were admitted, and not a word of rebuke or wonder was expressed. The parable of the sheep and the goats came forcibly to mind as the group was divided into two sections—regular attendants on one side and irregular or absentees on the other. Nothing was concealed, but openly the rewards were given and the prize-winners were dismissed, orderly and well pleased with their gifts. Those who had received no prizes were then told that if they attended regularly during the year before them they would also be rewarded for attendance like those who had now passed out with their prizes. After their dismissal, I heard exclamations such as, "I shall not come on Sunday," etc., etc. I waited anxiously for Sunday. They did not keep their threats. I gave them a warm welcome when I saw how many had returned, and the attendance kept up (with the exception of during the month of Ramathan) until I left for the summer vacation when, according to the promise that had been given, they were rewarded for good attendance.

Marash has taken all chapel services when Mr. Van Peurseem has not been able to be present. This has not been an easy task because he is known by all present as one who has come out from Islam and is now a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Regular lessons have been given throughout the year on two mornings in the week to two sisters of the Sultan. They are anxious to acquire English without studious effort on their part, but as there is a definite opportunity to read the Gospel I continue the lessons. They have been most courteous in their attitude and show willingness to listen even if they do not heed the message. One of them declared rather forcibly: "I could never become a Christian in Muscat. I should have to live in India."

Daily house visiting has been kept up and two mornings in the week have been kept open for receiving visitors. Mrs. Van Peurseem, with Mr. Van Peurseem, has been able to visit far-off villages, and has brought encouraging reports of women willing to listen and also to receive medical treatment.

Nothing wonderful has transpired, but I ask that this report may be accepted, as "This is My Task."

DR. HOSMON writes: I have tried to develop my work in Pediatrics this past year. It is a needy field, in which I get some response, but it takes money to supply milk. It has been a beginning in small things, but a line here and a line there each day will help us to develop later a child welfare work. A pair of scales is absolutely necessary in the work among babies, but some mothers in Muscat feel that perhaps a calamity will befall her child if it is placed on the scales. Even though the baby two years old has been weighed and found to be only ten pounds, the mother thinks that because it has arrived at the age when their prophet allows them to wean their children it can now eat rice and fish along with the older ones! Some were too poor to furnish milk, and when we gave them definite measures of powdered milk in papers to last one day, some mothers gave the milk to other members of the family or opened only one paper of milk a day for fear we would not give them milk a second day.

We tried keeping a marasmus child but the parents thought it was too much trouble to bring him in the morning and take him away at sunset. Besides, the grandmother told me that if I should make him well and strong he would have to eat Arab food later; why not now? The father said it would only cost a few pennies for a cloth to wrap him for burial; so why take so much trouble? In spite of the obstacles, I have seen a little progress made, for the mothers used to send their children with the neighbors who happened to be coming, but now more are bringing their own children.

One Hindu woman has, we believe, been careful about her little girl's diet and it has been interesting to see the difference in that child passing through the summer's heat and other children of the same age in the same neighborhood and under similar conditions. This Hindu mother proudly calls my attention to the condition of her little girl one and a half years old in contrast to the other Hindu children two and a half years old who are stunted in growth and full of boils and other troubles.

Malaria has been as prevalent as ever and more than usual in September, because they had no burning winds to dry out the earth. It is discouraging work trying to teach the Moslems that mosquitoes are the cause of malaria. There was an epidemic of a mild type of influenza when I came from India the first of September.

Our attendance at the Dispensary diminished to almost nothing for a while last winter because I had been charging them one or two pennies for medicine. It is hard to pass out expensive medicines to middle class people for nothing, but Moslems do rebel at giving money to a Christian. We now give all medicines free to patients who attend in person to hear the Gospel and bring their tickets. If they lose their ticket, they pay one Muscat penny for a new one. The Rupee in Muscat equals 180-190 pennies. If a member of the family comes to carry medicines home day after day we charge four pennies, unless I know the patient is unable to attend in person or is extremely poor, in which cases I allow the medicines free. This method works without trouble. After my experience last winter, when they rebelled at giving one or two pennies for their medicines, you can imagine how very much surprised I was when a very poor blind woman who sits by the wayside and begs for her living told me she had paid one Rial to a woman for branding her in three places on her head. Their own professionals do not give them help for nothing or for "a reward in the next world."

The attendance of last year included many from Matrah. Since my return from India I have had the best daily attendance, and all have been coming from Muscat. The outlook for the coming year is very encouraging.

In view of the good attendance from all classes and from various directions we realize we have a splendid opportunity for presenting the Gospel. My nurses and I meet every morning for definite prayer for our morning talks with the women about Christ as our only Saviour. I do not want it to become a mere form we go through each morning before they get their medicines. I wish to be more and more in earnest in exalting our blessed Lord to them. Sometimes I wish I knew their thoughts as they seem to listen with interest, while a few others scoff. The longer I work among them the more I am persuaded it is a work of faith. Yet as I look over the time spent among them I believe there is definite progress made. I have kept up the daily reading of the Bible to the Moslems employed under me, and I am glad to see Azzo taking an interest in those Bible lessons. She is the Baluchi girl who has helped us for the last four or five years.

Because of lack of funds, I did not get on any tour last year. I can truly say "The Lord has done great things for us, whereof we are glad," for when the appropriations allowed me last year were entirely too small for me to do anything with, my nurses and I kept praying that God would supply our needs, and He mercifully helped us by stirring the friends at home to send over all the offerings they had pledged for the support of Nurse Margaret. Moreover, He gave me an extra large gift from the ladies of the Albany churches, who bought almost all my drugs for me and sent them out this September. Some others from Newark sent me money, which I plan to use for touring this year. I praise Him for definite answers to our prayers and I am truly grateful to all these kind friends who have so willingly and earnestly helped me. I also wish to take this opportunity of thanking all those at home who have sent things for our work in the Sewing Guild boxes.

BAHRAIN

Evangelistic—Mrs. Pennings.

Educational—Mrs. Hakken.

Medical—Dr. Rottschaefer.

MRS. PENNINGS writes: The opportunities for evangelistic work among the women of Bahrain are more than one worker can do justice to, even though assisted by a good Bible woman and much voluntary help from all the missionary women in the station.

The most striking evangelistic opportunity of the year was the medical tour to Deman and Katif, where Mrs. Harrison was besieged from early morning till late at night to give readings and sing hymns to eager and enthusiastic audiences. For this splendid service and all her voluntary and effective evangelistic work we thank Mrs. Harrison most heartily. The women and we shall miss her very much when she is transferred to Matrah.

One of our problems in Bahrain is how to reach the village people. In Arab communities the hospitality of the people gives us an opening, but the Baharna centres are hard to reach very effectively even when we accompany the medical tours. The people are still so full of either fear or curiosity that it is hard to hold their attention and fix it on a Gospel message, but usually there are some hungry or attentive souls among the many fearful or indifferent ones, and we take every chance to read to them.

Before Christmas we visited the outlying districts to give the Christmas message and invite our friends to the Christmas tree party at the new hospital. We distributed our little gifts at these district meetings and took others to the homes of our friends. At the big celebration the school girls, who always supply the main program, did very well again and gave the Christmas message and story in song and drama to large, appreciative crowds.

We still feel that the Mejlis days are worth while, for among the Arabs it is good form to return a call. The woman who is not allowed to go out may send a child or a servant to inquire about our health or that of the children, but many find some opportunity to call personally. After the social visiting we usually have the chance to hold an informal meeting.

Clinic prayers and visiting the in-patients were kept up as usual, and we were encouraged by some very keen listeners among the in-patients, and appreciative remarks by the clinic patients. Miss Dalenberg had a Sunday School class for patients and neighborhood friends while she was here.

Calling takes a great deal of our time and that of the Bible woman, and with the large circle of friends the Mission has made in Bahrain, there are always a great many more calls on our list than we can possibly make. An invitation to read is generally given us.

We ask you to join us in praying for more definite results—real, happy and complete conversions among the women of Bahrain.

I close with a prayer from a devotional diary: "Teach us, good Lord, to serve Thee with loyal and steadfast hearts; to give and not to count the cost; . . . to labor and not to ask for any reward save that of knowing that we do Thy will, through Jesus Christ our Lord."

MRS. HAKKEN writes: The Bahrain Girls' School was opened on September 27, 1926, in the lower rooms of our chapel, which was a change from the previous year when it was held in a native house nearer the bazaar.

We were greatly disappointed the first few days when the enrollment was only about eight Moslem pupils, but gradually the news spread around that we were in our own compound, and at the end of the first week we were delighted to have an enrollment of twenty-eight. It gradually rose, until at Christmas time, the zenith of our school year, we had 48 Moslems and 12 Jewesses, and on Fridays, when the Koran schools were closed, we had seven extra pupils.

After the lure of dolls, sweets and other gifts disappeared with the Christmas festivities, the average daily attendance dropped to about twenty-five. Then, too, the better known and more popular our school became, the more opposition it received from the Koran teachers. Often when a little eager bright face was missed, we would be told that the child had been sent to the Koran school, for the zealous leader would tell the parents we surely would make her a Christian if she remained with us even for a day. Some of the children appear at ten-thirty in the morning telling the teacher they had had their Koran lesson and now were there for their real ones.

One of our little girls was Fatima, step-daughter of Salem, our motor-driver. She was given to us by her dying mother and we were so happy to think we could take care of her and give her the happy care-free childhood our own children have. But, alas, brothers and sisters of the dead mother arrived some time after she was buried and claimed Fatima, though they had never come to see the mother all through her long, severe illness. Salem took the case before the British Consul, who said that it was a case for the religious Sheik. The Moslem Judge said: "Oh, do you want the Christians to have her?" Salem replied that he did. "I don't," said the Judge, and little Fatima was given over to the relatives and taken away to Hassa, where she will probably all too soon be married off—thereby losing so much of her childhood. We were so fond of her, and her mischievous ways and sparkling black eyes will not soon be forgotten. We continually find that to go against a Moslem judge is like butting a stone wall.

We had one exceptionally promising girl of really marriageable age enter the primary class. She soon went ahead of the little ones and was even coming in the afternoons with the advanced classes. She said over and over again how she loved school and how she wished she had been permitted to come before and begged that we would keep it open Saturdays and Sundays too!

All the little girls and big ones, too, enjoyed a big wooden toboggan slide that a gift from home made possible. Our compound was a noisy, busy place from morning until night. It was fun to see the girls managing to have a good swift slide in spite of their long skirts. They would slide head first, up side down and any way to get an extra thrill, just like the biggest tomboy at home. One little girl of about thirteen came to school quite regularly and then we missed her. Upon inquiry where Shreefa was, the children replied with one accord, "Married!" I was astonished and sorry, but a couple of days later in she came. She said her husband let her come to school, as she lived near by. The slide was probably a big inducement to her, for she was clever at it. Her husband used to come over to the compound to call her when he was through with his work.

After Annual Meeting Mrs. Pennings and Mrs. Harrison kept the school open until the arrival of Miss Ruth Jackson from Busrah. The station was very much pleased to have her here from December to March and she was a great help and influence in the school. Her work was greatly appreciated by the girls as well as by the one in charge. When she arrived she had the advanced pupils come as well, which meant an addition of twelve Jewesses and three Moslems. Upon the departure of Miss Jackson, Mrs. Pennings took over the afternoon session while I took up the work of the morning. The usual curriculum of reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, construction work, sewing, knitting, music and calisthenics was given until June first. Then the native teacher entered the sea of matrimony for the third or fourth time and the ladies of the station took the Gulf steamer for India.

After Mr. Hakken left for India, the boys' school was moved into the girls' schoolrooms because the owner of the house they were in wanted the place. When I returned from India in October, the boys' school was in full swing; so we decided to rent a very nice house which we could move into December first, more secluded and much better suited for the Moslem girls.

We ask for your prayers for these girls and know that prayers are being answered because many are coming and many more want to come. And we pray that with the enlightenment of the men in Bahrain the girls may have their chance too.

DR. ROTTSCHAEFER writes: The work of the new Women's Hospital has begun. As with all things in life, it has its difficulties and problems. In the first place, if the work were in charge of one who could speak with the people in their own tongue, it could have been begun in a far better and more efficient way. That difficulty will take some time to overcome. Another difficulty has been that of the nurses. The experiment of having nurses from Beirut has been everything but successful. The unhappiness and dissatisfaction on their part has not made for the best work or for the best influence among the people served by the hospital. The problem of the patient has been not the least. The doctor here needs to be a veritable wonder-worker to satisfy the demands of the patients. She must be able to know completely what is wrong with any part of the patient's anatomy or physiology by feeling the pulse! She must be able to effect a cure for any trouble, no matter of how long duration, with one dose of medicine! She must be able to cure with medicine what can be accomplished only by surgery, and in a thousand and one other ways she must be able to restore the sick to health and the dying to life!

Another very real problem is the one of finances. When I arrived in Bahrain and found the new hospital there, but no appropriation to carry on the work of the hospital, the task seemed hopeless. I was told that Rs. 300 per month was the appropriation for medical work in Bahrain and that nothing extra had been appropriated for the increased work that had been planned for. That sum was but little more than the amount that was being paid each month for the very small staff of helpers in the Women's Hospital.

In the out-patient department the total number of new cases has been 2,764, the total number of old cases coming back for treatment has been 7,932, making a total of 10,696.

The total number of in-patients has been 94. Of these, 50 were medical, 36 surgical and 8 obstetrical. It is very difficult to persuade the women to come to the hospital for normal obstetrical cases. We have had only three normal cases in the hospital this year, two of which were Persian and one Indian. The total number of all obstetrical cases has been 35.

Out-calls form an important part of the women's medical work in Bahrain, the total number of calls amounting to 315. These calls have taken us into all sorts of homes from the highest to the lowest. They have also been the largest source of hospital income.

The people served by the hospital have been mostly Persians.

The following figures have been calculated from the out-patient department based on the new patients only:

Persians, 59.75 per cent.; Baharanis, 17.21 per cent.; Arabs, 17 per cent.; Jews, 4.75 per cent.; Indians, .71 per cent.; Turks, .52 per cent.; Christians, .07 per cent. The percentage of Persians would be far greater if we had kept a record of the nationality of the old cases as well. Next year I hope to be able to do the work a little more accurately and keep a record in every department of the nationality of the patients. The "Arabs" include negroes as well. The negroes have not been kept separate. Had they been, the total number of Arabs would be very small indeed.

One does not need to work very long in the Women's Hospital to realize that the Persian language would be far more useful to the missionary than Arabic. On the other hand when one is called into the homes of the better class of Arabs, one sees the desirability of Arabic. The best solution to the problem is to have a bi-lingual missionary in charge of the medical work where one cannot pick and choose the people with whom one comes into contact.

One of the big problems of hospital administration is the filth of the people who come. How to conduct a hospital something like a hospital is still an unanswered question in my mind. I feel that it is a part of my job to teach these people to observe as far as possible the simple rules of cleanliness.

As to finances, I have no figures to present as to the probable or average annual expenditure and income. I am trying to get as much income on the field as possible. I want to make everybody pay who can, even in the out-patient department. On the general principle that people appreciate much more what they pay a little for, I should like to get them into the habit of paying. Many of them have the idea that we do everything for nothing. And certainly I want the poor to know that they can always ask for help without financial consideration. On the other hand, there is the question as to whether a clinic should be free. But when a large part of the money needed must be raised on the field, necessity is laid upon us to charge the people who are able to pay for services rendered.

As I see my job here, it is to start the work of the Women's Hospital, and I would like to do it along proper lines and definite principles that may take hold of the people more or less, in the hope that when my successor comes to take over the work she may find at least a bit of a foundation which can be used to build on.

KUWAIT

Evangelistic—Mrs. Mylrea.

Medical—Dr. Calverley and Miss Van Pelt.

MRS. MYLREA writes: This report, at the close of another year of evangelistic work among the women of Kuwait, brings no startling new developments, but is the record of everyday contact with callers and people in their own homes. There have been many opportunities to read and talk with women and we trust that seed has been sown which will in time spring up and bear fruit.

After settling down to the year's work last November, we started having a meeting once a week for the singing of hymns. We invited a number of people and had ten at the first and second meetings. Of course we came up against the same old difficulty of one woman not wanting to unveil before others. Some young girls who came to school to me one winter, came and enjoyed singing the hymns we had learned at that time. Just before the second meeting I asked their mother to be sure to remind them, and to my surprise her reply was: "I am afraid they can't come—they must cook the supper." On pressing my request I found that the real reason was because a certain freed slave woman came. She had come to us off and on for four or five years to read and sing, though her life is very much entangled with dancing and jinns. And so it went, the numbers falling off every week until one faithful woman and her little girl were left. As long as this custom of mysteriousness persists there is little hope for the success of such meetings. If there could only be a realization of their lost condition and the saving power of Christ, how it might change things! After this failure we went back to the old way of reading and talking as opportunity offered when people called.

Last spring we had invitations to picnics and one especially stands out in our memory because Mr. and Mrs. Brinckerhoff went with us and appreciated the hospitality of our host and enjoyed to the full a very good Arab lunch. It is a pleasure to see the women enjoying outdoor life.

We always have a cordial welcome in the houses we go to and this year it was a great pleasure to have the language students go calling with me. At first they were pitied, because they could not speak "the language of the angels," but as time went on and they were able to take their part in our conversations, the women were very much pleased and did not hesitate to say so.

There was a big society wedding in Kuwait last summer. The sister of Seyyid Hamid, the Nakib, was married to her cousin. Both families were special friends of ours and we were invited to the wedding. The groom being one of the Sheikh's companions meant that it was an especially important affair and the motor cars were drawn up around the door in quite a Fifth Avenue style. We were told to come in by the diwanieh door and so on through to the Haram, which we did. Just inside, the men were standing in rows saying their evening prayers. We were met at the gate and sent on through to the Haram. The gates of the Haram were closed because there were crowds of women outside who wanted to come in. First of all, we were taken to the bridal chamber, which was very daintily furnished in pink covered with lace. Then we were taken up to the roof, where we had a splendid view of the wedding procession which was headed by the groom's father and the Sheikh, then the groom, and behind him a great number of friends. The poor little bride was almost melted waiting in the little room next door for all the festivities to be over. The town talked of the bride for many a day. The first wife, and mother of his children, was forgotten in all the excitement.

The Sunday afternoon service for Moslems has been well attended by women and children throughout the year. The women of Kuwait have the gospel preached to them in a very direct way in the dispensary morning after morning and at those Sunday services. Surely the entrance of God's Word will give light.

MRS. CALVERLEY writes: In our last report we mentioned three outstanding needs of our women's medical work. They were: a new and lighter operating room, two new family wards and a Ford car. Today we can report that every one of these needs has been met. The beautiful new operating room on the northwest corner of the hospital bears eloquent testimony to the labors of Dr. Mylrea and Miss Van Pelt all through the long, hot summer and of Mr. Calverley, who put up the walls of the operating room and the wards before we went to India.

The two family wards have already been useful and bid fair to be a great accession. The Ford, for the acquisition of which friends in the homeland labored so tirelessly, is on its way to Arabia, and the garage is being built to await its arrival.

We are filled with thankfulness to God and to our friends that these improvements have been made possible. Our equipment is now admirable for present demands and there remains only that we acquire greater skill and efficiency, so that love's labor on the part of so many friends may bring forth the fruits it deserves. We shall appreciate the intercession of all who will pray that we may be better able to meet the needs of the suffering ones who come to our hospital.

There has been an important change in the Women's Hospital staff during the past year. Ravamoney, after seven years of faithful service, has retired from work in Arabia and returned to India. She would have resigned two years ago could we have found a successor for her. Last February we welcomed Nurse Sowbhagyam, our new nurse from Madanapalle. She and Ravamoney worked together until the latter left for India at the end of June. Lucia, our Syrian helper, was given a well-earned holiday while the two Indian nurses were here together and spent five happy and profitable months in Basrah. It was Miss Van Pelt's idea that she should live in the Basrah Girls' School and resume her former studies during the months of her vacation. We can see that her English has improved by the experience, and she is constantly developing into a more useful helper. After Ravamoney left, it would have been very difficult for Sowbhagyam to get along with her very limited knowledge of Arabic, had not Lucia been her constant companion and interpreter. We miss Ravamoney's quickness and efficiency and also her acquaintance with the people, but our present helpers are constantly improving and we are thankful for the way our problems are being solved.

It would be too much to expect that statistics of out-calls, operations and in-patients for this year, with the doctor absent for three months, should equal those of last year when the work labored under no such handicap. The numbers, however, are well above those of two years ago when the doctor was away during the summer. The total of dispensary attendance during 1926-1927 is practically the same as that of last year—over 18,000. Dispensary work kept up very well all summer with Miss Van Pelt in charge. Dr. Mylrea was always ready to give her his help. He performed some operations and Miss Van Pelt performed others and administered some of the intravenous injections. It is a great satisfaction to know that the women patients are so well cared for during our absence. Miss Van Pelt admitted three obstetrical in-patients to the hospital this summer, one of them an Arab woman of a respected though poor family. She had stayed in the hospital for an operation several years ago, but she says that the criticism her family received for allowing her to come to the missionaries for her confinement amounted almost to persecution. When they saw her chubby baby girl comfortable and contented after her daily bath and regular feeding, wearing dainty white clothes instead of coarse black ones and without the disfiguring pigment on her face which they are accustomed to see on the faces of Arab babies, they exclaimed: "This baby is no child of ours; she is no Arab!" The mother, however, is proud of her well-cared-for baby. Just now we have the Bagdad wife of one of our lesser sheikhs as an obstetrical in-patient in the hospital. There have been a number of people this year who have made arrangements beforehand for us to attend them in their homes, and the charge of 100 rupees is coming to be recognized as the fee for such cases from those who can afford to pay.

There has been much gratitude this year in successful vaccinations. In former years we have been almost in despair as one lot of vaccine after another proved inert. Last winter all our vaccine was good and hundreds of children were protected against smallpox. This success may be partly due to the fact that we learned to use plain water in place of alcohol in cleansing the arm before vaccination.

Dispensary prayers have been carried on as usual, conducted by Mrs. Mylrea, Miss Van Pelt and myself. I do not remember having heard a single note of opposition from any listener at these meetings. In fact the women so constantly agree with what we say and so placidly affirm that this doctrine is just what their books teach, that we have often vigorously pointed out to them that the story of Christ's death is directly in opposition to the teaching of the Koran and that they cannot believe it and be Moslems.

It has been our desire for years to be able to bring the Gospel to Persian patients who cannot understand Arabic. This year a beginning has been made and it is now possible on one day each week to have the reading and a little of the explanation in Persian as well as Arabic. At the end of prayers we offer the sale of Gospel portions in both languages. It has made the treatment of our numerous Persian patients much easier to be able to dispense, almost entirely, with the service of an interpreter.

There is much cause for thankfulness in our review of the work of the year. Yet how far we fall short of what we long to accomplish! We can only say with the Apostle Paul: "We press on, if so be that we may lay hold on that for which also we were laid hold on by Christ Jesus."

MISS VAN PELT writes: There are three items on which it is my province to report this year, which are a distinct advance on the past year.

It proved to be an impracticability to remodel the room formerly used as an operating room in the Women's Hospital and also an architectural impossibility to protect it from the sun and make it watertight by the use of a skylight; so we have for your inspection and sanction the present new operating room and two new wards met within the funds designated to meet these two needs. The wreck of an instrument cupboard which has been awaiting the arrival of new panels and doors for two years, is now in its place—complete.

It was a privilege to provide some few months of additional schooling for Lucia in the Basrah Girls' School during the slack period last winter. She has returned to us the same dear girl and a more valuable helper.

We required of Ravamoney early in the year her answer as to her return after going to India with Mrs. Calverley, and as her family had quite decided she was to be married when she reached home, we accepted the nurse offered us by Dr. Hart of Madanapalle, upon whom Miss TeWinkel has spent so much time and labor. I would like here to express our appreciation of Dr. Rottschaefer's kindness and help in bringing the girl up with her, as it enabled Lucia to have a vacation and go to school, enabled the new nurse to work into a new situation under the tutelage of Ravamoney, who had been with us seven years and also enabled the work to be carried throughout the summer with her help. Had she just arrived with Mrs. Calverley, which was the alternative, the year ahead would have been considerably crippled.

The problem of managing the bedlam of larger clinics for the women and children of Kuwait is not an easy one, but there is a distinct improvement and the discipline is not so distasteful as it once was. They are beginning to believe in the truth and justice of the numbered passes and, whatever it costs to us, the work gains in that they can all have better attention and treatment. Attention at morning prayers is undoubtedly better and one of the pleasures of the year has been the frequent opportunity of telling the women of the love and power of Christ.

We were greatly in need of the surgical supplies sent out from Jamaica, Long Island, and Hackensack and Passaic, N. J. Had they not fulfilled their promise to me during the year and responded so generously, we should have had gauze enough to last us a bare six weeks—for two hospitals.

May I personally and publicly thank Mr. Calverley and Dr. Mylrea for making the new wards and operating room possible? Such cannot be achieved in Kuwait without intense personal supervision and attention. Dr. Mylrea put in the plumbing and did many other things with his own hands, and ungrudgingly planned that for six weeks every afternoon his helpers enameled and otherwise did the finishing off of the operating room.

Personal instruction is a definite part of our constructive program for our helpers, and more and more we hope to raise their reliability and technique. Added to this, the new Indian nurse has had lessons in Arabic.

We have been endeavoring to find a suitable lad to train as a male nurse in the Men's Hospital, as we are constantly faced by the problem of needy and sometimes urgent cases who have no one who can stay and care for them.

It has been a happy year of co-operating and work in Kuwait.

BASRAH

Educational—Miss Kellien.

Evangelistic—Mrs. Van Ess.

MISS KELLIEN writes: In accordance with the decision arrived at by the Mission a year ago, Basrah has now one school for girls instead of two, and the necessity for the closing of the second school has cast a shadow on the whole year's work. Considering the funds available and the need for improving our staff, there was no other remedy, but those interested must always regret the giving up of a growing concern.

The numbers in Ashar kept up well to the very end, and Moslem parents exclaimed as loudly as the Christians over the news that the school would not re-open in the autumn. Indeed, one of the surprises of the situation has been the unenterprising attitude of the Protestant congregation. They prefer our school when they can get it without expense or trouble, but even those who can well afford to pay taxi fare for their girls are now sending them to the Government School in Ashar, where, of course, the Koran is the only religious text book used. Non-Moslems are not required to study that, but the fact that they have sessions on Sunday means that the Christian girls get no religious training at all outside their homes, and in the great majority of cases, such training is sadly lacking even there. Some of the parents began sending their big girls in a taxi with our teacher, but without money for their fare; so that had to be speedily stopped. There are eight girls now coming from Ashar: one Jewess and one Christian who pay their own way, three little Moslems, and three Christians in whom some of our missionaries are so interested that they contribute to the taxi fund. Miss Lutton, for instance, is paying for Barsoam's little girl out of special gift money, and contributions from other friends make it possible to furnish transportation for those mentioned.

Any report of the Ashar school should have been written by Miss Rachel Jackson, for within three months of her departure on furlough the work was given up. At the graduation exercises last March two pupils received diplomas. For the rest, we can only say that the work was carried on along the usual lines during the year. The fact that the Government schools no longer offer positions to our graduates is an interesting commentary on their attitude towards our work. Our Moslem teacher they would be very glad to get because of her intimate acquaintance with all the outstanding Moslem families with their bewildering ramifications, but there are at present four of our graduates without positions, and the Government authorities make no effort to engage them. They take on their own former pupils, who have studied for six years as compared to our eight, and this is bound to influence parents who look for financial help from their daughters when school days are over.

You are probably as tired of hearing about Government School opposition as the educational missionaries in Basrah are of encountering it. It is not a question of leaving them alone and ignoring them. They will not leave us alone, and no one who is not in the atmosphere day by day and year by year can realize just how hard it is to meet their outward friendship and secret enmity all the time. The Christian teachers, all unasked, reiterate their innocence of any attempt to injure our school, but it is impossible to believe their word in face of all the evidence to the contrary. There is more joy in their school over one girl drawn away from us than over ten gathered from the streets. One can understand their pride in a large and flourishing school, but for Christians to do their utmost to hinder the work of missions—to which they owe their own education—savors not only of disloyalty to American institutions, but to their Lord as well. As we meet these teachers here and there, it is often hard for us to keep in mind and to imitate the example of that same Lord in His contact with those who opposed His work.

This autumn we proposed to open the school earlier in September than usual, but circumstances in the form of frisky cholera germs disposed otherwise. It was not until the first of October that permission for the opening of schools came from Baghdad, and no one rejoiced more heartily over the lifting of the quarantine than did the mothers, when the departure of unruly children brought a semblance of peace and quiet to their homes once more. The attendance is just over 50, with a few girls still absent in the date gardens. Of those enrolled three-fifths are Moslems. Two of our new pupils are over sixteen years old, and it is encouraging to see their willingness to begin at the very beginning in spite of their age. Other older girls are beginning to resent the fact that it is only their younger sisters who are being educated, but their mothers are either too old-fashioned or so selfishly dependent on their help to let them come to school. One woman was amazed that any one would expect her to stay alone in the house and allow her ambitious daughter to get an education. Such mothers have many lessons yet to learn in the school of sacrifice, but one cannot expect their outlook on life to be changed in a day, although one has only sympathy for the eager youth that is being wasted while the transformation is slowly taking place. One disappointment has been the non-arrival of a kindergarten teacher from Mosul. She was trained by Mrs. McDowell, who secured her promise to come to us in September. During the holidays she went to Syria with a sickly brother and has failed to return. Her mother in Mosul claims to have heard nothing from her for some time, and in the meanwhile the other good teachers have been engaged elsewhere. The Mosul missionaries think the girl really intends to come; so we wait as patiently as possible with a dozen tiny children disputing over blocks and picture books in some harassed teacher's classroom. New kindergarten supplies have come from America, and that department is likely to be very popular with the parents, as it is the cheapest and easiest way of having their small children taken care of for several hours a day.

Nothing of special interest has been attempted during the year except that, living in the school building last winter, we were able to have some of the older girls in on an occasional Saturday morning for lessons in cake and sweets making. That branch of domestic science appeals to them, for they are eager for new things, but unfortunately the lack of ovens and other housekeeping devices in their homes makes it difficult for them to put into practice what they learn.

The increasing number of publications in simple Arabic on nature study, the care of the health and other practical subjects tends to make the curriculum more interesting and varied in the lower grades. A health primer is especially popular with girls of nine and ten, and the posters from Egypt, illustrating the wise and foolish mothers, have made a great impression on them and can be recommended to all in search of "eye gate" material.

Bible lessons continue to be given daily, and it is seldom that any objections are made on that score. Some of the young children have a good knowledge of the Gospel story, and some of their favorite hymns are about the death of Christ, but the words have little meaning for them as yet. The real attitude of the older Moslem girls is hard to analyze. Sometimes one feels that they are held back from any serious consideration of religious things not so much by any inner conviction that Islam is the one true way to God as by the ties of Moslem society. A change in faith would mean the upheaval of their whole social life, and faced by that certain calamity, spiritual values assume small proportions. To so present Jesus Christ that they shall count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Him, is the hardest part of our task, and in this we crave your prayers.

MRS. VAN ESS writes: One of the pleasantest parts of a furlough is the sense of home-coming which we feel upon return to the field. Our welcome back to Basrah was a most heartening one, and we were very happy to settle down once more to the life and work of Basrah station.

It was very easy to renew my contacts, as many friends called upon me at once, and I visited many more either by myself or with one of the Bible women. As the year went on I have enlarged my acquaintance in the usual ways, and have made an especial effort to become friends with the families of boys in the Boys' school. One is sure of a welcome in these homes, and it often opens up new parts of town and fresh circles of acquaintances. For some weeks in the winter, before the public exercises and diploma-giving of the Ashar Girls' School, I went every day to help train the girls in the musical part of their program. This enabled me to get to know the girls better, and through them their families, which is always an advantage to the evangelistic worker.

During Moharram I went daily to Ashur readings, sometimes twice a day, and heard six or seven different Mullayas conduct them.

I followed the reading day by day in Sir Lewis Pelly's translation of the *Passion Play of Hassan and Hussein, with the result that I frequently had a better idea of what was going on than some of the ignorant Shiah women around me. After Ashur, it was overheard in the Basrah Bible shop that "Mrs. Van Ess and the Muallimat went to all the readings, and cried very much!" We can only offer the justification that perspiration was mistaken for tears. The month was July, and the atmosphere of a closely packed "hohse" (courtyard) was much like a Turkish bath. We received the most cordial welcome everywhere we went, and our only difficulty was to remain in an inconspicuous position, instead of accepting seats of honor. We saw many friends—some of whom I had not seen for years. The main interest for us, however, in what can only be called a religious orgy, is to see the tremendous hold that the Shiah traditions have on all but a very small fraction of the more intelligent Shiah women, and the power of the Mullayas to sway the emotions of the crowd at these times of tensely and excitement. When we see the large part that religion plays in their life and thought, we may well ponder how we can utilize this enthusiasm and need of an emotional outlet in presenting the Christian message to them. A dark and repulsive picture of their mental and spiritual background was afforded me by attendance at several of the gatherings which celebrate the "Ferhat Zahra." I have never before been to any of these and had the greatest difficulty in finding out when or where they were to be held. The main object is to make fun of Amr and float over his downfall, and consequently they are anxious to avoid the notice of the Sunnis. For suggestive and obscene gestures and actions, I have never seen anything to equal it except the carvings on temples and Juggernaut cars in South India. It is horrifying to see such things done in the name of religion, under the leadership of Mullayas; and it was appalling to see the number of children present, taking it all in.

Our organized work included the weekly prayer-meeting for Moslem women, held as usual in Zahra's courtyard on our servants' compound. This has been taken alternately by Mrs. Bilkert and myself. We have distributed warm garments and quilts from the Guild boxes and from special gifts, to the very poor and needy, but we tried to complete the distribution as far as possible at the beginning of the cold weather, and at Christmas time our celebration consisted in serving an abundant hot meal to a large gathering of the poorest of the poor. This eliminated the persistent and insistent subsequent demands for "Eedia" (holiday gifts) which have frequently marred the pleasure of our benefactions in past years.

The Christian Women's Society has continued to thrive, with a minimum of moral support by the missionary. I always attend their weekly meetings and preside at their monthly consecration service and their mejliss meetings, but the mejliss itself carries all responsibility and does all the work. This year they had sewing meetings at intervals through the winter, preparing warm garments for a good many poor people, as well as giving financial help to the needy. They also contribute to the pastor's salary and to the repair fund of the church.

The Sunday School of Moslem children has been the most encouraging feature of our organized work this year. When Miss Ruth Jackson left for Bahrain in November, 1926, we divided the group of children whom she had been teaching for the past three years, and I took the boys and Miss Rachel Jackson the girls. The Bible women took turns teaching the little group of Moslem women who meet after church for a Bible lesson, whom I had previously always taught myself. I moved the boys' class over to the Boys' School building, and the attendance increased by leaps and bounds. During the winter there was often an attendance of fifty, and the roll shows nearly two hundred names of boys who have been in attendance more or less regularly throughout the year. The girls' class, which has been in Mrs. Bilkert's charge since Miss Rachel Jackson's departure on furlough, increased also, and has had about a hundred names in the course of the year, with an average attendance of between twenty and thirty. These boys and girls come for the most part from the very poorest class and are veritable "wahoosh," i.e., "wild ones." They receive prizes after being present twelve times. This fall Mr. Bilkert is acting as superintendent of the Boys' Sunday School, and after general opening exercises he takes a class of the older boys, while I continue to handle the "small fry." Mrs. Bilkert and I have started a Thursday morning class for her Sunday School girls, with a two hour program which includes singing and gymnastics, health talks, and sewing and other hand work.

The Daily Vacation Bible School which was held for a month this summer was a joint educational and evangelistic enterprise, but since its personnel was drawn from the Sunday School boys, it is included in this report. Mr. Van Ess, Muallim Jelil and I conducted it for two and a half hours daily, five days a week, using the new school building. We limited the membership to Moslem boys who had never been in any school whatever, as we wished to benefit the entirely unprivileged class. Fifty boys were enrolled and most of them came for a good proportion of the time. The average attendance was twenty but the absentees were never the same from day to day. Our program began with a very thorough wash-up at the water-tap outside the boarding school kitchen, after which the boys marched in to the Assembly room, and Mr. Van Ess gave them the "Health and Habit" talks. The last two weeks he illustrated the health talks by use of the Physiology charts from the new school laboratory, and the boys showed a keen and intelligent interest in them. After this came singing; they learned some hymns, and a few simple motion songs. "Do you know how does the farmer?" and "Crossing the bridge" were the most popular. The Bible lesson came next. Mr. Van Ess told a Bible story—two weeks from the Old Testament, and two weeks from the life of Christ. This period often included dramatization, and the Children of Israel crossing the Red Sea, the Good Samaritan, the Lost Sheep, and David and Goliath were acted out with great spirit and enthusiasm and vivid local color. Then Muallim Jelil gave them a period of brisk gymnastics, or games, choosing the latter with a view to developing a spirit of team work. After gymnastics they were divided into two groups and alternated between M. Jelil and me for simple Arabic and hand work. The hand-work included cutting colored paper and making chains, coloring pictures, freehand drawing and coloring—often fearful and wonderful to behold—coloring, cutting, and mounting posters illustrating Bible stories, coloring Bible texts in Arabic, and modelling in plasticine. On the last day the boys were given their hand work to take home, to their great delight. We also treated them to a substantial dinner on that day.

The whole experience was a most interesting and satisfactory one, and demonstrated the feasibility of using this method to touch a class of children who are not ordinarily reached by our day schools.

ANNUAL REPORTS

for the Year Ending May, 1928

THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY

The theme for the past year has been "Climbing." Not only the Auxiliaries, but the Board itself, perhaps unwittingly, has been scaling the "Ladder of Loving Service," with its ten rungs designated Eight Meetings, Every Woman, Co-operation, Project, Demonstration, Text Book, Reading, Loyalty, Personal Touch and Prayer.

Meetings.—From May to May with the exception of July and August the Board Members have given an entire day each month to the business of the Board, the Directors two days a month and the Finance Committee even more. Does the Church at large realize how much of time and thought is freely given to the Board's service by these devoted women who are also actively engaged in positions of leadership in their local church organizations? It is this voluntary service that makes possible the conduct of so large a business enterprise with an office staff of only six salaried workers—two Secretaries, a Treasurer and three assistants. Ordinarily the Board holds no meeting in September, but this year a special meeting was called in that month to commission Dr. Esther Barny to her work as a medical missionary in Arabia.

The Board has added to its membership Mrs. Charles T. Olcott, formerly Miss Grace Woods, missionary of the American Board in India, and Miss Anna Elizabeth Leonard of Syracuse, N. Y. It has received with regret the resignation of Mrs. J. Clarence Miller, made necessary by Mr. Miller's acceptance of a call to a Congregational pulpit.

New Classical Committees have been appointed as follows: Mrs. J. D. Dykstra for the Classis of Dakota to succeed Mrs. C. Van der Schoor; Mrs. James Hyink for the Classis of East Sioux to succeed Mrs. Dykstra; Mrs. Thomas Hughes for the Classis of Passaic from the Classis of Paramus; Mrs. James Craven for the Classis of Philadelphia to succeed Miss Etta Suckow; Mrs. Howard D. Smith to assist Mrs. Henry Zoller in the Classis of Montgomery. Resignations have been received from Mrs. William V. Berg of the Classis of Orange, Mrs. William F. Cotter of the Classis of South Long Island and Miss Helen Amerman, Classical Representative for Young Women in the Classis of Philadelphia. A special committee of the Board has prepared a concise statement of the duties of Classical Committees which unifies their work and clarifies their relation to the Societies and to the Board.

Eight Classical Committee members accepted the Board's invitation to attend the February Board meeting.

Every Woman.—Eight new auxiliaries have been organized: Maplewood, N. J.; Netherwood Church of Plainfield, N. J.; Hope Church, Los Angeles, Cal.; Nardin Park, Detroit; Home Acres and Garfield Park, Grand Rapids; Prince Bay, Staten Island; Cliffside Park, N. J. Three are reorganized: North Paterson Church of Hawthorne, N. J., Canarsie, Long Island, and Ridgefield, N. J. Fifteen new Young Women's Societies are noted in the Report of the Field Secretary for Young Women's Work.

The Young Women's Department has suffered severely from secretarial changes. Miss Zwemer's resignation at this time last year left the department leaderless during the late summer months, when plans are usually laid for the following season. We thought ourselves fortunate in securing for a year the services of Miss Gladys Woods, a graduate of Cornell University. To our great regret, Miss Woods was obliged to resign when less than half her term had expired. The Chairmen of the Young Women's Committees were so fortunate as to discover Miss Corilla Brodnax, formerly Traveling Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, who would be free for the summer. Miss Brodnax will serve as Secretary for Young Women's Work until fall, when she returns to Wells College, her Alma Mater. Meantime, we hope a permanent Secretary will be found. The fine persistence of the Field Secretary's assistant, Edith Webbe, has held the office together through thick and thin.

This Tercentenary Year of our Reformed Church in America has been the fiftieth anniversary year of several of the Auxiliaries, which have celebrated their Jubilee with rejoicing and with golden gifts for the Treasury. The organizations which have thus served during one-sixth of the entire period of our Church's existence in this country are: First Church, Passaic, N. J.; Clinton Avenue (now First Church), Newark, N. J.; Christ Church, Utica, N. Y.; Upper Red Hook, N. Y.; Third Church, Raritan, N. J.; Third Church (now Park), Jersey City, N. J.; Fonda and Katsbaan, N. Y.; Williamsburgh and 12th Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hudson, N. Y., and East Orange, N. J.

Co-operation.—Board members and missionaries on furlough have freely given time and strength to the stimulation of missionary interest in Classical Conferences, auxiliary meetings, church services and Bible Schools. Three hundred and nineteen appointments for speakers have been made, of which 70 have been filled by Misses Ruth and Rachel Jackson of Arabia. The societies that have profited by these visits will surely wish to express their gratitude with ours for this willing and selfless service. Mrs. J. Howard Brinkerhoff's story of her tour of the Mission Fields, told with the sparkling vivacity of youthful enthusiasm, has been a delight and an inspiration to many societies. The Board warmly appreciates Mrs. Brinkerhoff's contribution and hopes for its continuance.

A successful and happy experiment in co-operation was made in the late winter by the coming together of the Presidents, Secretaries and Classical Committees of the Missionary Unions holding Spring Conferences and those members of the two Women's Boards who have had part as speakers in former conferences, also the Secretary for Young Women's Work. Members from Montgomery, Schenectady, Philadelphia, Paramus, Passaic, New Brunswick, Raritan and Monmouth participated in a lively discussion covering the method of Classical Conferences and the relation of Young Women's Classical groups to them.

Our co-operation with interdenominational groups is shown in the long list of Interdenominational Committees on which members of the Board serve. The Board had its full representation at the annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Boards and the Foreign Missions Conference at Atlantic City in January. The Corresponding Secretary and the Secretary for Young Women's Work were also present at the Student Volunteer Convention held at Detroit during the Christmas holidays.

Shortly after the return of Dr. and Mrs. Hill from their visit to Japan last spring, the Executive Committee of Synod's Board and the Directors of the Woman's Board spent a delightful evening together hearing Dr. Hill's report of our work in Japan and of Ferris Seminary in particular and Mr. Brinckerhoff's report of the work in our other fields as he saw it in his round-the-world tour.

Co-operation with Synod's Board has been evinced by the full payment of the Woman's Board's obligation for Women's Work in our combined budget and by the acceptance of an additional obligation of $15,000 for the maintenance of missionary wives engaged in work for women and children. In November, when a rumor was in the air that, because of the Church's failure to meet the Foreign Mission askings of the previous year, the work on the Mission Fields, including our own, was to suffer a 10 per cent. cut, the Woman's Board held conference with Synod's Board's Treasurer. Dr. Potter made clear this anomalous situation: that though, through the Progress Council, the Woman's Board is sharing more largely than formerly in the contributions from churches, Synod's Board has continued to carry the support of married women missionaries whose work for women and children is ostensibly the work of the Woman's Board. On this account Synod's Board's appropriations for "missionary maintenance" were out of all proper proportion to appropriations for "mission work"; hence the necessity for the cut in the "work" side of the budget. The Woman's Board, knowing the open heart, the open mind and the open hand of the women of the Church, and trusting in God, who has never failed them yet when they have sought to advance His cause, agreed to assume the salaries of missionary wives to the extent of $15,000. Prayer has been continuously made that God would give wisdom to relate these missionaries to their supporters according to His plan, and now at the end of the year, the Woman's Board is happy to find its family enriched by the addition of 16 missionary wives, whose maintenance aggregates $14,950. The organizations that have adopted their "own missionary" under this plan are the auxiliaries of Jamaica, St. Nicholas Collegiate, Newburgh, First Kingston, and the Classes of South Long Island, Bergen, South Bergen and Palisades, Paramus, Passaic, Montgomery, and New Brunswick, and last, but not least in enthusiasm, the Sunday Schools, who, through their offering on Foreign Missions Sunday, took possession of Mrs. Mason Olcott as the Sunday Schools' "Own Missionary," and contributed nearly sufficient surplus for the support of another. Of the $15,000, we still lack $4,800, and the Board will welcome applications from societies or individuals who desire a missionary for their very own.

Projects.—The securing of these salaries and the completion of the fund for the reconstruction of Ferris Seminary have been the Board's special Projects for the year. The Ferris Seminary story awaits its "Finis" at the Anniversary on May 15th. Readers of this report may turn to the record of that meeting, a few pages farther on, and read there the achievement for which we give humble and hearty thanks to God and to the Church. We acknowledge with special appreciation a gift from Synod's Board of $3,000 from its legacy fund for Ferris.

Demonstration.—The daily routine of the office is a continuous Demonstration of mission work, for Room 10 is the power house whence stretch the "radiate nerve-lines" that carry to every remotest society currents of light and heat, bulletins of information, messages of counsel and calls for help. Responses from the other end show that receivers are in good condition. The reaction of the societies to the "Ladder" plan has been especially gratifying to the Secretary who prepared it during last summer's vacation days. Because many societies, for various good reasons, were late in starting the Climb, the contest does not close, as first announced, at the end of the Church year, but will continue to January first. Reports on the Reading Contest, however, will be called on September 4th in order that honors may be awarded at the Fall Conferences. The contest has lured many visitors to Room 10 in search of information and suggestions. Many are the hours spent in discussion of ways and means of stimulating interest and increasing funds. Letters innumerable go into the mailbox day by day, the click of the typewriter is seldom silent, and the little packing-room pours forth a steady stream of leaflets, programs, costumes, lantern slides and other aids to education.

Text Books and Reading.—Text books and other Reading materials have their place in the report of the Editorial and Educational Secretary. Suffice it to say that Miss Lawrence, past-master in the preparation of leaflet literature, has won for our Board a reputation for the excellence and attractiveness of its publications. "W. B. F. M. Quizzes" has furnished educational entertainment to many societies that have been astute enough to see its possibilities as program material. It will be especially valuable as an accompaniment to the Board's history, "Fifty Years in Foreign Fields," which is recommended to the societies as the text book for this Tercentenary Year. The Circulating Library has not been as heavily drawn upon as anticipated. Many new and up-to-date books have been added and the churches are again reminded that the Library is at the service of all who will be responsible for returning the books promptly and in good condition.

Loyalty.—The Treasurer's report, filling the last pages of the Year Book, is our record of Loyalty. Many societies have made the 10 per cent. increase invited by the Board, and many have accompanied their gifts with expressions of joy and satisfaction in so doing. Sometimes we are asked why the Boards do not assess the societies at a certain amount per capita. But would not this deprive their gifts of the joyous spontaneity that now characterizes them? Is it not better to make known the need of an annual increase to keep pace with the growth of the work and then to rely on the willing-hearted to give "as God has prospered" them?

The Treasurer reports:

Total receipts from all sources.....	$205,569.84
Gifts for Ferris Reconstruction.....	23,038.30
Grand Total	$228,608.14

This has enabled us to meet all obligations (including one-third of the $15,000 item for married missionaries' salaries, January-April, 1928, and $2,500 on the same account for the remaining months of the calendar year) and to close the year with a working balance. Recalling that last year we were obliged to borrow nearly $500 from the Contingent fund in order to close the year without deficit, we register here our hearty appreciation of the loyalty of the contributors and our humble thanks to God, who has given us the privilege of being His almoners.

Special designated gifts:

For purchase of land for Sturges Seminary, Japan....	$ 5,000.00
To be applied to $100,000 gift for Ferris.....	30,000.00

Legacies—Estates:

Helen Mar Dodd.....	12,685.72
Elizabeth D. Leonard.....	500.00
Mary de Smith.....	1,019.04
Helen A. Rollins.....	270.00
Through Auxiliary Societies:
Muskegon, Mich., 1st, Anna Van Doorne.....	100.00
Zeeland, Mich., 1st, Etta Huizenga.....	100.00

Undesignated legacies have made it possible to meet the following urgent needs on the field:

Repair on Girls' School, Amoy, China (Leonard Legacy).$	500.00
Applied to our $100,000 goal for Ferris Seminary Reconstruction	4,004.76

Too high praise cannot be given to Miss Bacon for the splendidly organized work of the Treasurer's office. Would that all the women of the Church could stand with the Board today in a rising vote of thanks.

Personal Touch.—The Personal Touch with the Missionaries through the Foreign Corresponding Secretaries has been close and constant. We have rejoiced with those that have rejoiced when the new little lives came to bless the homes of the Hofstras, Renskers, Harrisons, Muyskens and Voskuils, and when the wedding bells rang for Ruth Scudder and Martin de Wolfe and the fireworks boomed for Agnes Buikema and William Angus. We cannot withhold our congratulations, even when, as in the case of Miss Shafer, the fortunate man carries away our missionary to another Mission. We have sympathized with those who have suffered illness and pain: Miss Zwemer, Miss Broekema, Miss Mollie Talmage, Miss Lansing and Miss Conklin, who has been obliged to spend several months away from her beloved children in Chittoor recuperating in Southern France. We have sped with good wishes and prayers the missionaries returning to their fields, Miss Holkeboer, Miss Smallegan, the Misses Te Winkel, Dr. and Mrs. Galen Scudder, Dr. and Mrs. Dame, Mr. and Mrs. de Wolfe, and recently Miss Noordhoff, who has wrought valiantly for the Ferris fund, and Mr. and Mrs. De Valois returning to India with their two little children. We have welcomed the coming of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Scudder from India, Miss Dalenberg and the Misses Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Dykstra from Arabia, Miss Buss and Miss Darrow from Japan. We have regretted that Miss Scardefield and Mrs. Ruigh have retired from service and will not return to their respective fields. We have delighted in all the encomiums and honors that have come to the Misses Talmage as they have rounded out their allotted years, and we are happy that as Missionaries Emeritus they continue their indispensable service to the Amoy Mission.

Our hearts have gone out in sympathy to those who have been bereft of dear ones: To Dr. and Mrs. Oltmans and their daughters in the death of the son and brother, Harvey Oltmans; to Mr. and Mrs. Shafer who have borne with such wondrous Christian grace the loss of their boy, David; to Mr. and Mrs. De Boer who were called to give back to the Saviour's keeping their sweet child, Ann Elizabeth; to Dr. Lewis Scudder as word reached him of the passing of his aged mother from the homeland here to the Homeland yonder; to Miss Vander Linden in the loss of her brother; to Miss Bruce when her mother was taken from her loving care; to Miss Noordhoff in the death of her father; and to Dr. Cantine in the severing of the relationship which Mrs. Cantine's long illness had made so peculiarly tender. These all we have commended to the loving comfort of the Father of all mercies. The death of Miss Helen Joldersma, just finishing her first year of language study, and scarcely entered upon her ministry as nurse in China, has moved us deeply. Her amazing fortitude in suffering and her triumphant witness to the love and grace of God have made so profound an impression on the missionaries and the Chinese community that we think of her life laid down as precious seed, dying to bring forth much fruit. Her unfinished work is a challenge and a call to some young nurse here in America to come over and fill the place she has left vacant in China.

Early in the fall Dr. Esther Barny sailed to rejoin her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barny, in Baghdad. The first return of a daughter of the Mission to the Arabian field has rejoiced the hearts of the Arabian missionaries and provided one of the two women-physicians for whom the Mission has been calling loud and long. The other doctor providentially appeared from an unexpected quarter just as Miss Dalenberg had decided that she must prolong her furlough to include a full medical course. The appointment of Dr. M. Neoskoleta Tiffany, who reached the field in February and is now engaged in language study, has made Miss Dalenberg's sacrifice unnecessary and enables her to return to her field "in due course."

Prayer.—Monday morning in Room 10. For a little time the door is shut, while the Staff begins the week in prayer. It dares not do otherwise. It takes counsel with God, "not alone because it may, but because it must." Tasks are many, problems great, and the Staff is small, but the work is God's. His wisdom is available to those who ask, and "it is nothing with (Him) to help whether with many or with those that have no might." All speakers, who go to carry the missionary message to the societies during the week, all missionaries or Board members in special need, all important meetings and conferences, all questions on which the light of God's counsel is needed, are brought with simple definiteness to Him.

Our shortest line of contact with the missionaries and their work is "by way of the throne of God." Swifter than the air-flights that have characterized this eventful year, swifter even than the radio messages which flash to the uttermost parts of the earth, is the prayer that often brings its answer "while they are yet speaking" or even "before they call." Who shall say how greatly the success of the missionaries' work depends upon the faithfulness of their "praying partners" here at home?

Prayer has helped to solve the problem of Miss Green's enforced absence from Amoy during the four hay-fever months. Simultaneous proposals from China and from the Board determined that she should give the time that she is obliged to be absent from Amoy to the work of the Christian Literature Society at Shanghai, thus putting to practical use her language equipment in ways which no one foresaw when she made an intensive study of Mandarin on her return to China after her last furlough.

We believe that the women of the churches have prayed gifts into the Treasury that have answered our prayers for land and buildings. The long desired land for the girls' school at Basrah is at last secured and the Jubilee building can now be erected. The Nurses' Home connected with the Marion Wells Thomas Hospital at Bahrain is the gift of one devoted woman, Miss Gertrude A. Boer of Detroit. That Miss Couch has at last a comfortable new house in Nagasaki, and that the Kuyper Memorial Building at Ferris Seminary is to be built of reinforced concrete, proof against earthquake shock, and, indeed, the purchase of the very ground on which the Seminary stands, are due to that Elect Lady of the Board, Mrs. W. B. Hill, whom God so often uses to answer her own prayers and ours. By prayer the walls of the Jubilee Nurses' Home at Madanapalle are rising—its furnishing to be provided by a gift in loving memory of Miss Sadie Miller, for 40 years Treasurer of the Port Richmond Auxiliary, and by the Centennial gift of the Auxiliary of the First Church of New Brunswick. By prayer the Jubilee buildings of the Women's Industrial School at Palmaner have been completed and the industrial work extended into the villages round about. By faith and a mighty effort on the part of Mrs. Mason Olcott, "5,000 Christmasless Children" of the Indian villages were provided with simple Christmas gifts, so that the story of God's great gift to men took on a new reality in the light of the gifts of love that came from American friends.

We are learning in these days how to use more effectively the power that is generated by believing prayer; we are increasingly realizing our dependence upon it. Therefore the call for "prayer-partners" and "praying-mates"; therefore the summons to "days of prayer" for our missionaries and for specific objects connected with our Reformed Church responsibilities; therefore the worldwide Day of Prayer on the first Friday of the Lenten Season, observed not only by Christian women in America, but by the women of all our mission fields—150 women assembled at Vellore, sending a gift of money to the Woman's Board in America, 70 women met together in the City of Baghdad.

The International Conference at Jerusalem in the fortnight preceding Easter called forth a volume of prayer from Christians all over the world, the result of which we shall surely see in some great ongoing of the King's business in the years immediately before us.

"Launch out into the deep" was the word given us by our President on that eventful day in November when we undertook the additional $15,000 obligation to avert the threatened cut. At the Master's word we will still let down the nets. There is a spiritual revival just begun in our schools in Japan: at Sturges Seminary 200 girls signed cards expressing their wish to follow Christ, at Ferris 17 girls united with the Church at Christmas and all the teachers are now Christian. There is a spiritual movement in Chiang-chiu and other parts of the Amoy Mission, of which we shall hear more in next year's report. What responsibility does this good news thrust upon us? There are three essential elements in our missionary service—knowledge, sacrifice, prayer—and the greatest of these is Prayer. But the inner principle that sustains these three and is greater than them all is Love—love to God and love to our neighbor, whoever and wherever he may be.

ELIZA P. COBB.

EDITORIAL AND EDUCATIONAL SECRETARY

In this Tercentenary Year more people have read and studied about the Reformed Church in America than heretofore and it was a coincidental leading, having the "Ladder of Loving Service," with its stimulating interest this same year—for the 6th and 7th rungs are Text book and Reading.

It is gratifying to receive requests for our leaflets from outside the denomination. To ten states and the District of Columbia our literature has been sent.

As is our custom, articles and illustrations have appeared regularly in the Christian Intelligencer and Mission Field, and the Leader. The Quiz Book issued early in the summer has proved interestingly instructive. In connection therewith there have been printed the additional sketches of the missionary sisters in service, which makes the set complete.

For supplementary material for use with the text book "A Straight Way Toward Tomorrow," the following leaflets have been published:

Blossom Land—by Miss Jeane Noordhoff
Lead-A-Brother—by Miss K. M. Talmage
Traveling the Old, Old Trails—by Miss Tena Holkeboer
The Starting Point—by Mrs. Henry J. Scudder
Social Progress—by Mrs. Henry Honegger
An Eastern Mother-Heart—by Miss Ruth Scudder
Rami—by Miss Charlotte C. Wyckoff
In Camp with Dr. Hart—by Mrs. John W. Conklin
Kamala—by Miss Josephine V. Te Winkel
Being a Baby in India—by Miss Sarella Te Winkel
Chains of Iron—by Mrs. Stanley Mylrea
Tomorrow's Children—by Mrs. E. E. Calverley, M.D.
Church Mice—by Mrs. John Van Ess
On the Waiting List—by Mrs. H. A. Bilkert

Through the Board of Publication 542 copies of the text books have been sold. While we have had more subscriptions to Everyland, the quota has not been reached.

The Sewing Guild leaflet, "What It Accomplishes," has been widely distributed.

The response from the Sunday Schools on Foreign Missions Sunday for which the leaflet "Our Sunday School Missionary" (Mrs. Mason Olcott) and program were prepared, was most gratifying.

Two short leaflets have recently been printed: "What Eighteen Cents Did" and "O Kimi San."

A study of countries and people is helping us to see from Christ's angle the problems in working for the coming of His Kingdom; for "the measure of Christian life is in proportion to the horizon of the whole world."

O. H. LAWRENCE.

FIELD SECRETARY FOR YOUNG WOMEN'S WORK

With two changes in the office of Field Secretary, the Young Women's Department has labored under something of a handicap during the past year. Adjustments always mean a certain loss of time, but we are glad to report that the number of societies has continued to grow, registered groups now totaling three hundred and eighty-seven. Fifteen of these are new societies that have reported during the year. In May, Miss Zwemer found it possible to visit a number of Leagues in New York and New Jersey, establishing valuable contacts and helping new organizations to lay their foundations.

Summer Conferences.—While there was not a large number of Reformed Church girls at the Silver Bay Conference in June, "those who were there had an opportunity to learn of our work and meet each other informally through Miss Elizabeth Van Brunt, who graciously served as our Representative.

Camp Eendracht and Pine Lodge were both well attended in July. To quote from Miss Zwemer's own report: "The girls in Camp Eendracht during the annual Foreign Missions Conference, July 12 to 20, numbered seventy-three. Our Camp was delighted to entertain as its guests Miss Jeane Noordhoff of Ferris Seminary, Japan, and Dr. Esther Barny, who is about to begin her missionary career in Arabia. The Misses Sarella and Josephine Te Winkel were another's guests at the Hotel Northfield but Camp Eendracht claimed them as often as possible. At Miss Noordhoff's suggestion, a quantity of Japanese cards and pictures were ordered from Japan and sold by the camp girls for the benefit of Ferris Seminary. The proceeds netted over fifty dollars, which Camp Eendracht was happy to give toward the new Ferris buildings.

"The third annual Girls' Conference at Pine Lodge, July 23 to 31, was a most encouraging event. The enrollment had increased one hundred per cent. over the previous year and a unified Conference program was fully carried out. The Conference numbered forty-six girls and the faculty, six. During the Bible Hour, the 'Christian's Pilgrimage' was studied under the able leadership of Miss Hanna Hoekje. In the Mission Study Class, the Secretary for Young Women's Work gave a course on the work which our Church is doing, both in Foreign and Domestic fields. A Class in Methods was led by Miss Harriet Lee, of the Grand Rapids Y. W. C. A. Some special recreational feature was planned for each afternoon and each morning the camp paper furnished considerable amusement."

The Summer Schools of Missions at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, June 28-July 4, and at Winona Lake, Indiana, July 25-August 1, were enjoyed by our girls from the middle west.

Contact with Societies.—In addition to occasional visits to nearby societies, office correspondence has kept the Department in touch with a great many of our groups. This correspondence has consisted largely of suggestions relating to program material, most societies needing rather concrete and definite help along this line.

Our Budget.—Both Foreign and Domestic Budgets, totalling $11,000 each, were very attractively presented in January through pictorial bulletins, descriptive of our many interests. These proved very popular and a large edition was quickly exhausted. A follow-up letter in February urged the necessity of liberal gifts from all societies to make possible the fulfillment of the obligations assumed in the adoption of the Budget. The response to this letter brought our total Budget to within one hundred and seventy-five dollars of our goal. Gifts amounting to three thousand fifty-two dollars and thirty-two cents for the rebuilding of Ferris Seminary made our total Young Women's contributions fourteen thousand, four hundred and twenty dollars and eighty-two cents.

Publicity.—The Young Women's Column of the Intelligencer has been maintained throughout the year. Twice a month, programs based on the Study Books, "New Paths for Old Purposes," and "A Straight Way Toward Tomorrow," have been printed, alternate weeks being taken care of by news items from missionaries' letters, or editorials by the Secretary. We are happy to report that though the kindness of Rev. E. J. Blekkink, D.D., various news items from our Young Women's Column have been reprinted in "The Leader." The Pictorial Bulletin, which has already been mentioned, constituted our largest publicity item during the winter. Northfield flyers, containing Camp Eendracht registration blanks, were prepared and sent out in April. In conjunction with Mrs. J. Howard Brinkerhoff, Chairman of Publicity for the Women's Tercentenary Committee, the Young Women's Department issued announcement cards giving information concerning the Young Women's Tercentenary Day festivities, April 14, 1928.

Classical Representatives.—We regret to report the loss of three of our Classical Representatives through resignation:

Mrs. John M. West, Classis of Monmouth,
Miss Helen Amerman, Classis of Philadelphia,
Miss Anna Evenhuis, Classes of Chicago and Illinois.

Miss Florence E. Vennema was transferred from the Classis of Paramus to that of Passaic, due to the re-alignment of the churches in these two Classes. Miss Estelle Storms and Mrs. Frank E. Barnes were elected to the Classes of Westchester and Raritan, respectively.

Activities in Local Societies.—During the year a number of Young Women's Classical Conferences have been held, "The World Cruise" being used very effectively as program material at several. The Grand Rapids League for Service Union, which includes young women from about twenty churches of the Classis, has continued its Missionary Reading Contest with increased enthusiasm. Several of the Leagues in the Classis of Bergen furnished a dramatic missionary program for the Fall Conference of the Classical Missionary Union. In honor of the Tercentenary Year, the Women's Missionary Union of the Classis of New Brunswick held a supper and evening session on April 25th, to which they invited the members of the Young Women's Missionary Union of the Classis of New Brunswick.

Interdenominational Relationships.—Miss Woods' December and January reports tell a very interesting story of our wider relationships, December 28th to January 1st being devoted to the Student Volunteer Quadrennial Convention in Detroit; and January 16th to 17th to a Federated Student Committee Conference in New York.

Of the first of these Miss Woods says: "I think that on the whole the Convention was more dynamic than encouraging, but we all stored up food for thought. Each morning we attended a discussion group and while enthusiasm was there in abundance, so was criticism." The significance of this gathering of four thousand students from the colleges of the United States and Canada seems to me to lie very definitely in its present day interpretation of missions. In our publicity material and program preparation, we cannot escape the wider implications of our responsibility as Christians stressed in this conference.

For the Federated Student Committee Meeting, Miss Woods reports a very fine spirit and good discussion on Detroit Convention follow-up, and the church's participation in Y. W. C. A. Summer Conferences. It was felt that one member from each represented denomination should attend these conferences as Counsellor and Advisor, since so many students are woefully ignorant of the program of the Church today.

Young Women's Tercentenary Day.—The first event on the Tercentenary Program for Young Women's Day was the Conference of Classical Representatives from the Particular Synods of New York and New Brunswick. This was held in the Reformed Church House on the morning of April 14th. After brief presentations of the work of the Domestic and Foreign Boards as related to our Young Women's program, a very constructive discussion was engaged in and a number of significant conclusions reached. It was felt by all that our program must have both breadth and depth, and while stressing deep spiritual realities must include our civic, international, and inter-racial responsibilities.

The members of this group upon adjournment went directly to the Women's Tercentenary Luncheon at the Hotel Roosevelt where they were entertained as guests of the Women's Boards of Missions. From Mrs. John W. Beardslee's report of the afternoon session, comes this very interesting account of the Northfield Reunion:

"The Young Women's Rally on Saturday, April 14th, formed a fitting climax for Young Women's Tercentenary Day. An audience of about two hundred and fifty gathered in the chapel of the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas to the welcoming strains of Northfield songs sung by some two score Camp Eendracht girls, who used the Rally as the occasion for an informal reunion. In the audience were young women representing thirty-seven organized Church Leagues for Service, and nine churches which have no Leagues. Members of both of the Women's Missionary Boards and of the Women's Tercentenary Committee were present, as well as several missionaries.

"The mission work sponsored by the young women of the Church was very effectively set forth in a series of two-minute pictures. Miss Emily Heusinkveld gave a glimpse of Kentucky children at school. Rev. G. W. Watermulder spoke of the work among the Indians at Winnebago. Mrs. Brinckerhoff drew from her store of travel memories a scene in Dulce, New Mexico, and a little sketch of Christmas in India. Miss Bessie Bruce paid a sprightly tribute to the achievements of the Dutch-Americans in the Amoy Mission. Miss Cornelia Dalenberg presented vividly the needy women of Arabia.

"Miss Margaret Applegarth, well known to the Northfield girls and to the many users of her delightful books on missions for young people, spoke on the theme, 'How We Can Carry On.' The Camp Eendracht Leaders, Mrs. Jasper S. Hogan and Miss Elsie Stryker, were introduced and bespoke an increased attendance of Reformed Church girls at Northfield this summer.

"At six o'clock, the company adjourned to the St. Nicholas House where an informal supper had been arranged under the direction of the Misses Elizabeth and Mary Van Brunt, and an hour of happy sociability brought the Rally to a close."

A Forward Look.—Our task as a Young Women's Department has its thrillingly adventurous side, but it calls, too, for a slow, steady building on solid foundations. As Dr. Rufus Jones has so truly said, "Nothing short of a convincing laboratory experiment of the transforming and creative power of Christianity can fully meet the condition of the world today."

CORILLA G. BRODNAX,

Secretary for Young Women's Work.

THE SEWING GUILD

Another Sewing Guild year is almost over. Another Annual Meeting is at hand. Another pleasure and privilege has come to a chairman: to present a review, a summary of the thirty-first year of our work, a year full of joy and service.

We were glad, last year, to report the increasing interest among the young people. Since then many more of the societies have taken up the work and it is not difficult to understand our success when we note the enthusiastic interest of these new workers. They have made splendid contributions to the work.

Joy in the work has been the keynote in the letters from the home societies. We are assured by a new contributor: "We cannot tell you the pleasure this work has been to us; our days for meeting in the manse all day have been the best we have had all winter." The following paragraphs illustrate the spirit of many societies: "Before we packed our box we held a special prayer service asking God's blessing on our gifts, and trust they will give comfort, cheer and happiness to those who receive them." It was a fine hospital box and undoubtedly their hope was fulfilled. Again: "It has pleased us very much to send a box to the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. We are not a large society, and this is our first box. There is much joy in doing missionary work."

In taking up some beautifully pieced bed-quilts, knitted mufflers and wristlets we found pinned to them a note on which was written: "Made by four old ladies, members of the Home Department over 90 years old." With deep appreciation the Committee acknowledge indebtedness to the members of the Home Department for their splendid help. The hearty co-operation of so many auxiliaries is gratifying. And we rejoice in the continued allegiance of faithful friends, and are cheered by the support of new ones.

The first "Thank you" letter came from Arabia, from an Evangelistic worker. She writes: "You have made me so happy. I feel that I have never received such a generous supply of things for my work, and I want to tell you so at once. The warm garments and blankets will be distributed as soon as cold weather sets in, which will be in about two weeks. Honestly, as I handled those lovely dolls, I wanted to stop and play with them. It just does us good to think of the flannel gowns that are in the boxes against the cold weather. If we with our well fed bodies mind it, how much more the poor underfed, naked mortals who sleep on the ground on a mat."

From another worker we hear: "The boxes were so generous and it was such a pleasure to receive them. I called the teachers who live at the school over to share the pleasure of the unpacking, and we had a merry evening over it. They enjoyed the dolls almost as much as thirty-five fortunate little girls will at Christmas time. The dolls in this box are so lovely. One of them is in use now in the little kiddies' English Class. How they love to hold it and sing to it. One little servant boy always beams when a Guild box comes, for he knows that from it will come something warm for his half-blind mother whom he is trying to support. I am going to let him give some of the wristlets to little coolie boys who suffer from chapped hands in the winter. One of the most needy families to be helped is that of a coolie whose blind wife and four children seldom have enough to eat, to say nothing of clothing to keep them warm. Every article will mean comfort and joy to some one, and God will be asked repeatedly to bless the donors of the gifts. 'May God keep them and their children and give them peace,' and 'May God reward them for the sake of Christ,' will come from many who know of your love for Christ, and that it is He who has taught you to love those whom you have not seen. I must thank you for the linen for my own personal use. It certainly is a boon, for such things have a strange way of disappearing in this land and it is hard to keep up one's supply."

A grateful doctor writes: "The daily call for bandages in the morning dispensary work never ceases, and there is constant use of the towels and soap that were sent me. I do not know how I could work without these most necessary articles. I am so thankful for the new bed pads, sheets, quilts and blankets, also for the dressings, bandages, and gauze. It seems to me the Sewing Guild is like the good Lord—sends us all the things we need. This yearly output of Sewing Guild boxes from the churches at home to the different foreign fields is a very wonderful channel of blessing flowing into our Mission Stations. There is no such thought expressed in any religion in the East. Certainly not among the Hindu or Moslem women have I ever heard tell of where they sit and sew or quilt for dirty ignorant women of different faith than theirs. The contrast is most striking, and I wish it were possible for you and others of the Sewing Guild to visit us and see how greatly you help in this work."

From India we have an account of the pleasure derived from the things sent there: "The first two boxes came just as we were having a very busy time in our Obstetrical Department. We had seven pairs of twins in a month, a most unusual record. All these babies had to be clothed, as also their mothers and other babies and their mothers as well. When you have two babies instead of one and have that seven times in rapid succession you do need some extra clothing; so I was very glad to find plenty of baby garments in these boxes. Then the poor little things had no clothing provided by their mothers, and I did not have the heart to remove the flannel dresses and send them home naked. They went home clothed with some of the dresses you sent out. It is so exciting to find things we did not expect, and which are badly needed. Two dozen pairs of rubber gloves (I feel so rich!) and enamel ware and hot water bottles. The dolls are a joy always. We have a little woman in at present who has been very ill, and who is far from well now. She saw another patient have a doll and so pled for one, too. I gave her one of the very nice ones and she keeps it lying beside her all the time. Her eyes just sparkled when she first saw it. 'O let me hold the doll'—'May my child see the doll?'—'I want a doll'—these are the exclamations that come from the beds of the little children and women as the hospital doll goes on its rounds. We always wish there were heaps and heaps of them."

"Dolls, dolls, more dolls!" The same cry comes from all our Mission Stations—so few dolls, children so many.

When the Sewing Guild was organized its first efforts were to supply petticoats for the schools in India, and no report is complete without mention of them and the jackets. From one school we hear: "I never was so glad to receive the Guild box, for I am nearly at the end of my supplies. The clothes were given out immediately, for there were so many children in dire need who had been very ragged and dirty since they came to school in June. It was a joy to see them go to church the next Sunday in their spandy new jackets and petticoats! We give clothes only to those whose families are really too poor to provide them. The flannel nightgowns are a great boon. The children have no sweaters, nor anything of the sort. You would laugh to see the use they make of the flannel nightgowns; as soon as it gets cool in the evening, they put them on under their cotton clothes, and one gets glimpses of flannel neck and sleeve bands peeping out. I do not know what they would do without them. It is a great preventative of colds. You will be interested to know that some of the baby-garments were given to 'Our Baby,' a very important little person—daughter of one of our old girls who is an orphan with no family but us. The baby was born in Vellore Hospital and then came to visit us for two weeks. The things from the box were a great help. The mother and baby have now gone to their home in Madras. I want to thank someone, too, for the new 'First Aid Kit.' May I have one each year? Our 250 lively young persons are forever getting cuts and burns, and it is such a help to have these supplies."

A nurse in India writes: "Two weeks ago we received the boxes from the Sewing Guild for the hospital. All we can say is that it was just grand. Nothing had suffered any damage in the long journey. It was packed in a perfect way. Our whole staff is happy, and we start our week with new cheer which the Lord brought us through the Sewing Guild, and we never can forget you, for each day of the year we are reminded of the love and labor of our friends in America. Little Subbama was badly burned and was brought to the hospital with her leg drawn up. She had several skin graftings and so had to remain in the hospital for a long time. She came from a poor village home and what a transformation when she was bathed and dressed in the pretty Sewing Guild clothes! When she went back to her village home she promised to teach the children the hymns and texts she had learned in the hospital. Again let me say 'Thank you' for the wonderful box you sent me."

I have reserved till the last the story of Christmas in China, and with this I close: "Life is very hard for the poor people of China of late years and we are so glad we can put a little cheer into their dull lives. Our Christmas party was a great success. The mothers, aunts, and sisters of the pupils were invited and we did have a good audience, and all seemed to enjoy thoroughly the songs and Christmas plays. And then the gifts were given. The graduating class received the lovely dolls; in the next class each received a necklace that really was an ornament; other classes had scarfs and wristlets, work-bags, face cloths and soap, while the kindergarten children were made happy with dolls and scrap books with bright pictures. The teachers, too, were remembered, each receiving a pretty towel, face cloth and soap. It was such a happy time. It is heart-warming pleasure to play 'Lady Bountiful,' and I feel it's hardly fair that the real donors can't get the thanks of the women and girls they make so happy. May He who said that even the giving of a cup of cold water should not lose its reward give a blessing to every one who helped fill that splendid box. We all thank you, a hundred and fifty of us, for your gifts."

As we today pledge anew our material help to the growing needs of the work, let us pledge to those women and children even greater things: Deeper interest in their welfare, greater love for their souls, and more earnest prayer that they may be brought to the knowledge and love of Christ our Saviour.

"In this little while, does it matter,
As we work and we watch and we wait,
If we're filling the place He assigns us,
Be it service small or great?"

MARY LOUISE POWLES, Chairman.

BABY ROLL

During the past year 456 new names have been added to the Baby Roll. Among these are three missionary babies and eight pairs of twins. Fifty-seven different churches are represented. We are glad to have all these babies linked by ties of helpfulness to the needy babies of China and India. We wish we could make the need vivid to the mothers of many other little ones in our Reformed churches.

FRANCES DAVIS BEARDSLEE, Secretary.

LIFE AND MEMORIAL MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

"I cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers, that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of Glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Him, the eyes of your understanding being enlightened, that ye may know what is the hope of His calling and what is the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the Saints and what is the exceeding greatness of His power." As Paul prayed for the Ephesians, so are the Life Members interceding for our devoted Missionaries, each in her particular place of endeavor. The number of those who have become "Praying Mates" during the past twelve months has not quite reached the high-water mark of the previous year, lacking three. Is it for the reason that your Chairman has not been faithful in bringing this matter to the attention of the members of the Auxiliaries? If so, she here and now pledges increased efforts. It is the earnest hope of your committee that every Auxiliary in our Denomination have at least one new Life Member, during the coming year, and each succeeding year.

The following names have been placed, by friends, on the Memorial Membership Roll, in loving recognition of faithful services:

Mrs. John Van Burk, Athens, N. Y.; Miss Mae E. Wirtella, West New York, N. J.; Mrs. William Rooks, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. Henry E. Calkins, Muskegon, Mich.; and Mr. Garret Van Zee, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Your committee plans in future to send a special card or certificate to those who place names upon the Memorial Membership Roll.

ADALINE W. STILLWELL, Chairman.

The Fifty-fourth Anniversary

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord . . .
. . . Enter into His gates with thanksgiving."

Joy and Thanksgiving were the keynotes of the Anniversary of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions held on Tuesday, May 15, 1928, in the North Reformed Church, Newark, N. J.—for the day with its wonderful blue sky, for the cordial hospitality of the North Church, for the Christian fellowship as the morning session opened with the splendid hymn frequently sung in this Tercentenary year, "Faith of Our Fathers," followed by the 145th Psalm of praise, and prayer offered by Rev. T. Porter Drumm, D.D., pastor of the church. Mrs. Claude J. Fingar put into words the warm welcome that the large audience had already felt.

In her response Mrs. DeWitt Knox, President of the Board, mentioned previous experiences of the friendliness of the North Church. Referring to the slogan on the program, Finish the Fund for Ferris, Mrs. Knox offered Felicitations for the record of the year, as the Finances of the Board show Faith and Fealty to the Lord's work. She asked that the Facts connected with the Fields be studied, noting what has been, and what must be done, remembering the promise, "Ye are my Friends if ye do whatsoever I command you," and that "Feed my sheep" is one of His commandments.

The power embodied in a life is illustrated by our missionaries, several of whom were present. Miss Elizabeth G. Bruce, Amoy Mission, gave three pictures of a Sio-Khe boatwoman gradually responding to the loving sympathy of the missionary. Miss Ruth Jackson, Arabian Mission, reminded the women of the Reformed Church that its history for 300 years, standing as it does for the presentation of Christ to the world, gives them something to live up to. Miss Rachel Jackson touched on some changes in Arabia—the growth of the schools from the first handful of children, and in the use of certain medical provisions—there is expectation of similar growth in the little group of Christian converts of today.

When the report of the Treasurer was heard the main reason for the day's note of joyful thanksgiving was apparent. "He—or she—which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully." The women and girls of the missionary societies have not sowed sparingly, but have upheld the faith which the Woman's Board had in them when, appalled by the prospect of a cut in the already restricted work on our fields, it volunteered to attempt to raise an additional ten per cent. The increased contributions have made possible the payment of that added ten per cent. for the first part of the current year. Total receipts from all sources, for all objects, have been $228,877.28. May the givers indeed reap bountifully and have the happiness of "visualizing the results of their efforts in terms of life to the women and children on the fields."

After singing the Doxology, messages from Japan were given by Miss Flora Darrow who paid a tribute to the fine work which Miss Taylor is doing in the Bible classes for the boys of Steele Academy, in winning them to Christ, and Miss Florence Buss who spoke of the share the students and friends of Ferris Seminary are taking in the new building. They are very grateful for the friendly co-operation between the Christians in Japan and America. Mrs. Knox referred to the gifts of Mrs. William Baneroff Hill, Corresponding Secretary for Japan, which would make possible an earthquake-proof, re-inforced concrete building. The final contributions needed to complete the building fund were asked for in the day's offerings. The morning offering was received and dedicated with prayer by Rev. Edward Dawson, D.D.

Miss Cornelia Dalenberg, superintendent of the Bahrain Hospitals, Arabia, said that the medical work in that land is still in the pioneer stage of opening doors. Bahrain, a port city of 70,000 people, the gateway to the desert, is in a strategic position for the attainment of the Mission goal—the interior of Arabia—and most important tours into the interior have been made on invitation, by physicians and evangelists from that base. Very little medical work is done for women in the interior, as yet, but the women medical workers are welcomed on the various Bahrain Islands and adjacent mainland. One of the biggest problems is health education, particularly in the care of children. The hospital equipment is meagre, making work difficult, but the doctors are very able and their efforts unusually successful. Miss Dalenberg stated that she would rather work there, for the burdened Moslem women than in the most modern institution here.

The eight missionaries present all of whom will sail for their stations during the late summer, were called to the platform while the hymn, "O, Zion Haste" was sung. A cordial invitation to the luncheon prepared by the women of the church was accepted with appreciation.

The afternoon session was opened with another favorite hymn of the Tercentenary year, "O, God Our Help in Ages Past," and prayer offered by Rev. James Cantine, D.D., of the Mesopotamia Mission. At this time greetings were received from the Arcot Mission. Mrs. Henry J. Scudder earnestly requested the women to make a business of prayer, not just talk about it. Rev. Henry J. Scudder brought greetings from the millions of India—our cousins—from the ignorant and outcast, from the new India filled with a divine dissatisfaction, from the 50 missionaries and 700 Indian Christian workers as they prepare to celebrate the 75th Anniversary of the Mission in 1929.

A report of the Jerusalem Conference was given by Rev. Milton T. Stauffer, who told of the evils noted in places visited, en route to the Holy Land through the Mediterranean, and the questions that arose, "Will Jerusalem deal with this situation?" "Will Jerusalem have a message for these people?" Representatives of fifty-one nations were gathered at the Council, on the Mount of Olives, about one-half of them members of rising National Churches. The ability of the women delegates from those churches was noteworthy; they stated their opinions and spoke to the point. The crowning session was the one on Easter morning when all the delegates joined in one Communion service. Some results were unanimous conclusions reached and strong resolutions adopted in connection with troublesome international questions; also, the International Missionary Council was reorganized on the basis of National Church groups, motivated with the desire to share what they have with the world, instead of the basis of Mission Boards.

The afternoon offering was dedicated with prayer offered by Rev. George D. Hulst, and then Mr. Paul Chih Meng, secretary of the Chinese Students' Christian Association, spoke on "Christianity and Communism during two years of Nationalist China." Mr. Meng recently returned from a visit to China and gave first-hand information. Changes rapid and radical have taken place. In Canton passengers in buses speeding on concrete pavements, in the uniform of officers, may prove to be women. A chief justice in a Shanghai court is a woman, a graduate of a French school of jurisprudence. Women are occupying high positions in education, business, journalism, politics. The increase of knowledge among workers and farmers is due to the thousand-character system, by which they are enabled to read. Interest in religion had been lost because of the formalism and superstition of the old religions. Now a keen interest is shown, especially in Christianity, as the question is asked, "What can religion do for China?" Mr. Meng reviewed the steps by which Russians had gone to China's help and quietly introduced communism among the half-starved peasants, and the repudiation of the system, following a reign of terror. Christianity has been stimulated by the situation, in many cases, and persecuted men have realized better what the crown of thorns meant to Jesus. The young generation of Chinese Christians feel that it would be impossible to go too far in practising the principles of Jesus, that His visible kingdom transcends all economic and political questions.

Miss A. S. Wyckoff offered a resolution which was unanimously approved, that hearty and cordial thanks be extended to the ladies and pastor of the North Reformed Church for their fine hospitality, for the bountiful luncheon, the services of the organist, the appropriate solos, and the homelike atmosphere.

After the inspiring messages of the day and as an expression of our desire for the future of our Reformed Church as it begins a new century, it was fitting to close with the hymn "Lead On, O King Eternal"; and, remembering the answered petitions of the year, and the emphasis placed on prayer by each missionary present, it is fitting that the words of our Lord be added, "Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name; ask and ye shall receive."

SARAH A. BUSSING,
Recording Secretary.

May Seventeenth, 1928.

Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, R. C. A.,
25 East 22nd Street, New York, N. Y.

Mesdames:

We have audited the books and accounts of the Treasurer of your Board for the year ended April 30, 1928, and submit herewith the following statements which, in our opinion, set forth accurately the transactions of the Board for the year and its financial condition as of April 30, 1928.

EXHIBIT

"A" Statement of Assets and Liabilities as of April 30, 1928.

"B" Summary of Receipts and Disbursements for the year ended April 30, 1928.

SCHEDULE

1. Statement of Receipts for the year ended April 30, 1928.

2. Statement of Disbursements for the year ended April 30, 1928.

The cash balances as of April 30, 1928, after taking into consideration the receipts and disbursements to and including May 3, 1928, which were considered as occurring prior to May 1, 1928, were reconciled with statements submitted by the several depositors and all securities were counted and examined, and found to be as stated in your books.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARKE, OAKES & GREENWOOD.

May Seventeenth, 1928.

Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, R. C. A.,
25 East 22nd Street, New York, N. Y.

Mesdames:

We have audited the books and accounts of the Golden Jubilee Fund for the year ended April 30, 1928, and submit herewith the following statements which, in our opinion, set forth accurately the transactions of the Golden Jubilee Fund for the year and its condition as of April 30, 1928.

EXHIBIT

"A" Statement of Golden Jubilee Fund as of April 30, 1928.

"B" Statement of Receipts and Disbursements for the year ended April 30, 1928.

The cash balances were reconciled with statements submitted by the several depositors and all securities were counted and examined, and found to be as stated in your books.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARKE, OAKES & GREENWOOD.

A CREED FOR MISSIONARY SOCIETIES

1. We believe that we are coworkers together with God.
2. We believe that there should be a missionary society in every church organization.
3. We believe the church is a missionary organization, therefore every member should be a member of the missionary society also.
4. We believe that our Lord expects both men and women to do their part in the spreading of the Gospel, as His instruction was to "go," "tell."
5. We believe this responsibility should rest equally upon all Christians, not upon a small portion.
6. We believe that each member should have a moral responsibility regarding financial matters, in the prompt payment of dues, pledges and free-will offerings.
7. We believe that in order to give loyal adherence to the plans of work provided by those in authority, we must be informed in regard to the needs of the fields and the results already accomplished.
8. We believe that there is no better way to obtain this information than to subscribe for missionary magazines and read them; also other literature on missions.
9. We believe that our workers and their work should be faithfully remembered in our prayers, and that prayer calendars are an efficient aid to that end.
10. We believe that through earnest prayer and thorough knowledge of conditions, the gifts to the treasury will be largely increased.
